Dear Mr. Muhl:

Re: Case ID 223345

In our letter of February 2, 2005 we inadvertently failed to make reference to one of our stations, CKVO, in listing programs airing local Newfoundland and Labrador programming. We would like to remedy this oversight by adding the following information to the content of our February 2, 2005 letter.

CKVO – Clarenville

Saturday mornings from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., CKVO airs a program reflecting the traditional music of Newfoundland and Labrador. The root of our heritage music is mainly from Ireland, Scotland, Wales and England. It is interesting to note their influence on our own cultural music by playing limited amounts of their music. Still, the program is 90% Canadian Content, mostly cultural music.

Further to this information, I would also bring your attention to our letter of March 21, 2005, captioned Application 2004-0871-7 (CJYQ). On page three of that letter we expressed our desire to comply with the regulations and within the spirit of the conditions set-down, which we fully accept. We will therefore return to our original method of creating the eight hours at CJYQ and delivering the programming to the VOCM stations for airplay. We will have the system fully tuned up and running on all stations by May 2, 2005.

In the meantime, the current method of delivering the local programming will continue.

Sincerely,

(s) John Murphy
