

Senior Staff Lawyer Full-Time Permanent Position Saskatoon Office

The Organization: The Saskatchewan Human Rights Commission's mandate is to protect and promote human rights in Saskatchewan. The Commission is an employment equity employer and encourages women, Aboriginal people, people with disabilities and members of visible minorities to apply for the following position indicating whether they belong to one of these groups.

The Position: The Saskatchewan Human Rights Commission is seeking an energetic and confident person with superior analytical, problem-solving and writing skills to work as Senior Staff Lawyer in its Saskatoon office. Under the direction of the Chief Commissioner, you will advise and make recommendations to the board of Commissioners, represent the Commission in all legal matters related to the resolution of human rights complaints, provide legal advice to the Chief Commissioner and staff, and as part of the management team, advise on labour relations matters.

Candidates must be qualified for membership in the Law Society of Saskatchewan and have a minimum of 7 years' experience in active legal practice, including extensive litigation and senior appellate work before administrative tribunals and the Courts. You will have demonstrated knowledge and understanding of The Saskatchewan Human Rights Code, the Charter of Rights and Freedoms, as well as constitutional, administrative and employment law. You will be collegial and collaborative in your work relationships, and will have excellent written and verbal communication skills. You will be able to manage a challenging caseload with minimal supervision.

The unionized status of this position is currently under review.

Closing Date: February 27, 2006
