

Pond Inlet 2006

Pond Inlet is located on the northeastern shore of Baffin Island, across from Bylot Island. It is known to the Inuit as Mittimatalik, "the place where Mittima is buried". Although the name remains, the identity of Mittima is a mystery to the present-day people of Pond Inlet. Pond Inlet is one of Nunavut's treasure troves. The gorgeous scenery is a mix of mountains, glaciers, and icebergs that attract many tourists from all over the world. There are many outfitters for hire that will readily take visitors out on dogsled or snowmobile to see the abundant wildlife and scenery that Pond Inlet has to offer. As part of the Government of Nunavut's decentralization strategy to create jobs throughout Nunavut, Pond Inlet is now a Qikiqtani regional centre for the Departments of Sustainable Development and Public Works. The community looks to the growth sectors of government, tourism and businesses involving arts and crafts and wildlife harvesting for future economic development. For more information about travel to Pond Inlet, visit the Nunavut Handbook website at: <http://www.arctictravel.com>.

Getting There: First Air operates flights from Iqaluit to Pond Inlet, via Clyde River, on Monday, Wednesday, Thursdays and Friday. Please contact the airline for schedule changes.
