5.0 GOALS / PRINCIPLES

- 5.1 Employees of the Department of Education and the public education system deserve a fair, objective and equitable compensation framework.
- 5.2 The Department of Education supports the principle that an employee's salary within a given salary range is commensurate with the employee's training, qualifications and job performance.

6.0 REQUIREMENTS / STANDARDS

- 6.1 A reassigned employee is subject to the normal rules of promotion, transfer or demotion as set out in the applicable collective agreement or non-bargaining pay policies. The starting salary for the employee's new position is to be determined in accordance with those rules.
- 6.2 The starting salary for a new employee is to be based on the employee's training and experience. For example, if the person chosen for a position meets only the minimum training and experience requirements for the job category concerned, that person would be offered a starting salary at the minimum step of the pay range.
- 6.3 Where a new employee has qualifications that exceed the minimum requirements, the Deputy Minister (for Part I) or the superintendent (for Part II) will determine how many pay steps above the minimum salary to set the employee's starting salary (see section 7.1 for the provincial guideline). For Part II employees, a superintendent may, subject to District Education Council policy, offer a starting salary to a new employee that is higher than would be provided for under the provincial guideline when the superintendent is experiencing difficulty attracting qualified candidates or in other extenuating circumstances as deemed necessary for the effective administration of the school district.
- 6.4 Where starting salaries for new employees are determined by a collective agreement, the requirements of the collective agreement shall prevail over the provincial guideline and authorities set out in sections 6.3 and 7.1.

- 7.1 The provincial guideline for assessing the number of additional pay steps to be offered to a new employee, for the purposes of section 6.3, is: one additional pay step for each full year of training and/or experience over and above the minimum classification requirements.
- 7.2 School district personnel who require guidance in determining appropriate starting salaries for new and reassigned employees may contact the Human Resources Branch of the Department of Education for assistance.

8.0 DISTRICT EDUCATION COUNCIL POLICY-MAKING

- 8.1 A DEC may make policies identifying criteria and conditions under which a superintendent may offer a new employee a starting salary in excess of the provincial standard.
- 8.2 A DEC may make policies respecting recruiting and hiring processes not inconsistent with the provincial policies, legislation or collective agreements.
