

On this hilltop overlooking the Ottawa River, parliamentarians gather to make the laws of the land. The Parliament Buildings — which include the Centre Block, East Block and West Block — house the Senate and the House of Commons chambers, the Library of Parliament, and offices for parliamentarians and staff. Construction began on these buildings in 1859, and today they are among the finest examples of Gothic Revival architecture in North America.

Your First Stop

May 17 to September 4, 2006: the Info-Tent, a large white tent between Centre Block and West Block
September 5, 2006 to May 15, 2007: the Visitor Welcome Centre (entrance located under the Peace Tower in Centre Block)
NOTE: The schedule, duration and content of all tours and activities are subject to change without notice.

Security

All visitors to the Parliament Buildings will be required to go through security scanning stations. Lineups are to be expected and we recommend that you allow extra time.

Vehicles on the Hill

Only authorized vehicles are permitted on Parliament Hill. Municipal and public parking lots are located nearby.

Centre Block Guided Tour

Schedules and tours of Centre Block vary — sometimes without notice — according to the time and the day on which you choose to visit, especially when Parliament is in session. Tours are shorter and do not go to the Senate and House of Commons chambers when they are in use. Tours are not offered in the times surrounding Question Period. Instead, visitors may watch the debates or listen to audio guides in the Public Galleries of both the Senate and the House of Commons, subject to space availability. To make the most of your visit, check the Parliament of Canada website (www.parl.gc.ca/vis) for details.

May 15 to September 4, 2006 (public tour departures)
WEEKDAYS: 9 am to 7:20 pm (not offered around Question Period)
WEEKENDS AND HOLIDAYS: 9 am to 4:20 pm

Peace Tower

Enjoy a unique view of the city! The Peace Tower usually closes 30 minutes before the last tour of Centre Block. You can also visit the Memorial Chamber, which houses a special collection of books commemorating Canadians who died in military service.

East Block Guided Tour

July 2 to September 4, 2006
DAILY: public tour departures, 10 am to 5:15 pm
 For the first hundred years after Confederation, the East Block housed the offices of the governor general, the prime minister and senior cabinet members. Take a guided tour of the East Block and peek into the past — four offices have been restored to look as they did at the time of Confederation. For reservations for groups of 10 or more, please call (613) 996-0896.
