

Exercise Design Online (web-based)

Course Sponsor:

New Brunswick Emergency Measures Organization in conjunction with other Atlantic EMO's

Participant Restrictions:

Students must have access to and be able to use both the Internet (The Web) and email. Support will be provided.

Course Description:

Duration: 6 week self-study & 1-day in-class session

This course is intended to prepare candidates to design, conduct, and evaluate exercises. It is designed so that students can work through the online course material over a period of 6 weeks on the Internet. Students will work at their own pace and according to their own schedule. Interaction with other students and with instructors will be enabled via email, phone and a class WebBoard.

Course Objectives:

- Preparing candidates to design, conduct and evaluate exercises

Prerequisite:

This is an advanced level course. Candidates must have completed the Basic Emergency Preparedness course.

Type of Instruction:

The online portion of the course will be followed by a 1 day face-to-face workshop where students will meet as a group and apply what they have learned to a practical group exercise.

Course Availability:

Dates to be announced. To inquire about this course in Atlantic Canada, contact the Training officer in your province.

Cost:

The cost for Exercise Design Online course is $50. Course fees include all printed materials, lunch and breaks for one-day workshop.
