Your Investment Planning Worksheet

This worksheet complements other publications in this series:

Getting Started

encourages readers to develop a personal investment strategy and explains some of the key steps along the way like identifying your objectives, reviewing your financial resources, and assessing your investment knowledge and tolerance for risk.

Choosing Your Financial

Advisers guides readers in selecting their financial advisers and explains why they should make their choices carefully. It also explains why the law requires financial advisers to "know their client".

GETTING STARTED

Whether you're planning your financial future for the first time, or reviewing your present plan, it's important to establish clear financial goals. You'll also want to identify the resources you have to achieve your goals and think very carefully about how much risk you are prepared to take with your money.

Completing this worksheet will not tell you which investments are right for you, but it will help you work through information that is important to your overall investment strategy. Fill it out carefully, discuss it with your financial advisers in detail, and update it at least annually or whenever your personal circumstances change significantly.

Make copies of this worksheet before you fill it out so you can update it from time to time or pass it on to friends.

FINANCIAL OBJECTIVES

STEP 4

The answers to these questions will help you and your financial advisers properly assess your financial needs and objectives, as well as your tolerance for risk.

- 1 Today, I have $_____ to invest, and plan to invest an additional $_____ each (month/year).

Most people like to have some money set aside for emergencies. That money can still be invested to earn a return for you, but should be invested in securities that can quickly and easily be turned into cash.	If you are not comfortable with fluctuations in the value of your portfolio, you should choose investments that are very low risk. Remember though, that low risk securities almost invariably offer lower rates of return.
