Cultural Diversity

The Commercial Radio Policy (1998-41) “encourages broadcasters to reflect the cultural diversity of Canada in their programming and employment practices, especially with respect to news, music and the promotion of Canadian artists.”

Newcap fully appreciates the strategic and social importance of an effective human resources strategy. Since its inception, Newcap has actively and aggressively implemented an employment equity strategy dedicated to increasing representation of women, visible minorities, persons with disabilities and Aboriginal peoples.

This, we believe, is sound business practice in an industry where success depends heavily on how effectively we reflect the communities we are licenced to serve.

It is a policy that has served us well. Thanks in no small part to our employment equity policy and other minority friendly initiatives we have pursued in all of our stations, we enjoy great success in all of the markets we serve. In our view, drawing on the talent found in the designated groups is a key factor in achieving financial success. Our stations tend to be superior performers because of our ability to capitalize on the talent found within each of the designated groups.

Employment practices – We are in the process of conducting seminars on Recruitment and Selection as it pertains to employment equity. Employment Equity is kept at the forefront of the decision making process of hiring new employees. We continue to identify our organization as an employer that “values diversity in its work force and is committed to Employment Equity” when reaching out for new employees. Newcap has formed Employment Equity committees in each major center and the heads of these committees form a National Employment Equity committee to communication of Employment Equity policies and practices.

We have developed a workshop on diversity and respect in the workplace based on the film "Meet on Common Ground". This will be given to all staff. A section of Newcap's Policy Manual is dedicated to Employment Equity. A copy of the manual is available at all station locations and is accessible by all employees in paper form and also on our Human Resources website at hr.ncc.ca. All policies are available in alternative formats such as audio cassettes, large print, diskette, Braille or other upon request.

Policies on harassment and accommodation including an application for accommodation are available at every location and included on our website.

News – Our News staff focus their stories to reflect the reality of Canada's cultural, ethnic, racial and aboriginal diversity. In addition we will report on news that is important to the community as a whole, being sensitive to the cultural nuances of the cross-section of the local population. Our reporting reflects the interests of all the residents. Our employment equity plan will enable us to improve the diversity of our news staff as opportunities arise.

Music – Through our minimum 35 percent Canadian content our diverse staff is encouraged to play music that reflects Canada. Our relationship with AVRN gives us ready access to emerging Aboriginal artists and music.

Promotion of Canadian artists – We accept as a condition of license to participate in the Canadian Talent Development Plan created by the Canadian Association of Broadcasters (CAB) as set out in Public Notice CRTC 1995-196. Some of these funds are used to contribute to the Kiwanis Music Festival each year to promote emerging artists. We also contribute to FACTOR. We generously promote new artists on-air by playing their music and also by promoting local concerts.
