Aboriginal Health Career Fair

YELLOWKNIFE (22 November, 2006) - The media is invited to attend “Blueprint for the Future”, an Aboriginal Youth Career Fair hosted by the National Aboriginal Achievement Foundation to be held in Yellowknife at the St. Patrick High School/Weledeh Gymnasium. Physicians, social workers, nurses and technicians will be hosting workshops throughout the day while health professionals will be available at the exhibit to answer questions students may have concerning their future.

To help promote the event, information packages have been sent out to all school principals and include the “Choose a Career in Health and Social Services” career kit. Created by the Department of Health and Social Services, the career kit is designed to help students discover a career of interest and aid in the development of a successful education path. The career kits will be available at the Department of Health and Social Services exhibit booth during the career fair.
