

Good Things

Happening in Nova Scotia

Did you know ... Nova Scotia's private sector commits to promote the province

All Nova Scotians benefit when our province is promoted as the best place in which to live, work, do business, raise a family, receive an education, and visit. That's why 12 new organizations have officially signed on to deliver that message wherever they do business. On October 4, the Brain Repair Centre, Credit Union Atlantic, Acadian Seaplants, Saint Mary's University, Eassons Transport Ltd., Michelin, Oxford Frozen Foods, the Canadian Manufacturers and Exporters (Nova Scotia division), Glenora Inn and Distillery, the Cape Breton Partnership, C-Vision, and Eastlink Television joined 12 existing members of the Nova Scotia Come to Life initiative. One Nova Scotia: one vision, one perception, one brand. More good things happening in Nova Scotia.
