

Good Things Happening in Nova Scotia

Did you know ...

Nova Scotia is protecting its Natural Heritage

A comprehensive new management plan lays the groundwork for improved partnerships and stewardship to help protect the outstanding qualities of the Tobeatic Wilderness Area.

The plan protects the area's natural, cultural, and recreational features for future generations to use, enjoy and study says Minister of Environment and Labour, Mark Parent.

Tobeatic Wilderness Area includes old-growth forests, unique glacial landforms, undisturbed wetlands and is a significant area to the Mi'kmaq. It's another good thing happening in Nova Scotia.
