Section I: Message

A. Message from the Registrar

I am pleased to present the Report on Plans and Priorities for fiscal year 1999-2000 for the Tax Court of Canada. This Report reflects our Planning and Reporting Accountability Structure (PRAS).

The Tax Court of Canada has committed itself to participating in improving the Canadian judicial system to ensure that it meets the needs of today's society – in other words, to ensure that it is modern, accessible, prompt and affordable.

On the basis of this avant-garde management philosophy, the Court continued the reengineering of its services throughout 1998-1999. This report will enable you to ascertain the progress we have made since beginning this re-engineering exercise, assess whether the steps taken thus far are consistent with our mandate, vision, mission and strategic priorities and determine what remains to be done to meet our goal of providing the citizens of Canada with an accessible, effective, fair and independent Court.

The implementation of our new appeals management system is central to our efforts to reengineer our appeal process. This new Year 2000 system, which we began developing in September 1997, became operational in December 1998. We cannot provide any quantitative data on the success on this important project at this time.

We strongly believe that our clients have an important role to play in improving our practices and procedures. We therefore conducted a survey during the past year to find out what they had to say about the quality of our services. Their comments served as the basis for recommendations that will be used as a yardstick in developing and measuring new service standards.

The Tax Court of Canada is preparing for one of the most important moments in its history. On June 25, 1998 the Minister of Justice announced that a Court Administration Service Agency would be created to meet the administrative needs of the Tax Court of Canada and the Federal Court of Canada and that the Tax Court of Canada would be elevated to the status of a superior court. Naturally, these organizational changes will have a major impact on the Court.

Section I: Message

Since its creation in 1983, thanks to an excellent staff who are committed to client service, the Court has been able to make a prominent place for itself in the Canadian judicial system because of its capacity to adapt to change. These same qualities will enable us to meet the major challenges awaiting us in the coming months while honouring our commitments to all Canadians.

C. Mission Statement

We at the Tax Court of Canada are committed to providing the public with an accessible and efficient appeal process and to working together to maintain a fair and independent Court.

D. Strategic Objectives

The Tax Court of Canada's Mission Statement is comprised of four commitments to our clients on behalf of all Canadians. It is from these commitments that we derive our strategic objectives:

- 1. To improve the effectiveness of the Court's Appeal Process;
- 2. To improve public access to the Court and its services;
- 3. To improve service delivery;

4. To enhance the judicial independence of the Court.

E. Business and Service Line Structure

1. Introduction

The Business Line structure described below was approved by the Treasury Board under the Planning, Reporting and Accountability Structure (PRAS) document.

The Tax Court of Canada consists of one main business line (the Registry) and two service lines (1- Appeals Management, and 2- Corporate Services).

A third service line, Strategic Planning and Communications, was developed in December 1998 to give effect to TCC senior management's desire to make strategic planning an effective management tool and give this unit the visibility it needs vis-à-vis the central agencies. A new PRAS will be developed shortly for consideration and approval by the Treasury Board.

2. Description of the first two service lines

The Registry of the Tax Court of Canada provides a range of services to the Court through the following services lines: Appeals Management and Corporate Services.

a) Appeals Management

This Service Line

- provides litigants with guidance and advice on Court practices and procedures; and
- provides the Judges of the Court orderly and efficient scheduling of hearings.

b) Corporate Services

This Service Line

• provides the Registry with support in the areas of finance, administration, security, library, human resources and information technology.

3. Description of the new service line

a) Strategic planning and Communications

This Service Line

• provides the Registry with support in the areas of strategic planning, communication, legal information services and editing and revising.

The following table shows the change from the Tax Court of Canada's old organizational structure to the new.

CROSSWALK BETWEEN THE OLD AND NEW ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

F. Organizational Structure for Program Delivery

The Court, with its Headquarters in Ottawa, consists of the Chief Judge, the Associate Chief Judge and 20 other Judges plus three Supernumerary Judges. To ensure the expeditious hearing of appeals, the Chief Judge may, with the approval of the Governor in Council, appoint Deputy Judges. There are currently eight Deputy Judges.

The Chief Judge is responsible for the apportionment of the work among the Judges and the assignment of individual Judges to specific sittings of the Court. The Court has its own court accommodations in Vancouver, London, Toronto, Ottawa and Montréal, and shares accommodation with the Federal Court of Canada in Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg, Quebec City, Halifax and Fredericton. In other locations, the Court uses provincial court accommodations, where available, leases commercial accommodation or partners with other levels of government. For Income Tax appeals, the Court may now sit in roughly 40 locations across Canada. For Employment Insurance appeals, the Court may sit in over 80 locations across Canada.

The Registrar, as the Deputy to the Commissioner for Federal Judicial Affairs, through complete delegation of authority under subsection 76(2) of the Judges Act, is the Deputy Head of the Tax Court of Canada. The Commissioner for Federal Judicial Affairs reports to the Minister of Justice. The Registrar, as the Principal Officer of the Court, is responsible for the executive direction of the Court.

A. Summary of Key Plans, Priorities and Strategies

The Tax Court of Canada is committed to providing all Canadians with a forum for the resolution of their tax disputes before an independent and impartial decision-making body. Our dedication is based on the fundamental values which are entrenched in our Mission Statement and which guide our everyday actions. Those guiding principles are: access to justice for all, efficiency, fairness and judicial independence.

The following chart displays the Tax Court of Canada's major commitment and key results which are expected for the planned year.

2. Objective

The business line of the Tax Court of Canada is its Registry Services.

This main business line provides Canadians with the right to an accessible and efficient Court of record for hearing cases in areas involving taxation and other federal programs such as Canada Pension Plan, Employment Insurance and Old Age Security.

3. External Factors Influencing the Business Line

One significant factor could affect the extent to which the Tax Court of Canada's mandate and strategic priorities are achieved during the planned period concerned.

→ Mid-term Repercussions

On June 25, 1998, the Minister of Justice, the Honourable Anne McLellan, announced that a Court Administration Service would be created to meet the administrative needs of the Tax Court of Canada and the Federal Court of Canada and that the Tax Court of Canada would be elevated to the status of a superior court. These organizational changes will have a major impact on the court's organizational structure and its employees' day-to-day work.

4. Key Plans and Strategies

a) By Business Line

The Tax Court of Canada has identified the following priorities and strategies which upon completion, will meet the organization's strategic objectives.

→ Strategic Objective:

To improve the effectiveness of the Court's Appeals Process

$\rightarrow$ Priorities and Strategies:

1. Appeals Processing Re-engineering

Technology has become essential to the success of the Court's mission. Our old appeals management system was outdated and was not Year 2000 compliant. A loan of $1,331,000 for 1998-1999 and $904,000 for 1999-2000 has enabled us to complete the first phase of our service re-engineering process. The new system, known as the Appeals System Plus (ASP), became operational in December 1998. It will enable us to overcome Year 2000-related technical problems while enabling us an opportunity to re-engineer our services. The ASP will provide management information which will enable us to make our operations more efficient and responsive to client needs.

2. Strengthened Accountability

The Tax Court of Canada is committed to improving its efficiency and effectiveness by achieving greater accountability and has adopted the following Performance Management Framework.

• Performance Management Framework

The Tax Court of Canada is committed to increasing its effectiveness and efficiency through greater accountability. The Tax Court of Canada has developed a performance management framework. The main performance areas and related indicators have been identified. The performance management framework will be implemented over a period of two to three years. The indicators and related measurement strategies will be refined as we implement the new integrated appeals processing system and gain experience in monitoring and reporting on our performance. Since the system was implemented only in December 1998, the Court is not yet able to provide quantitative data on the extent to which it is honouring its main commitments. The performance information given for the 1998-1999 fiscal year is thus primarily qualitative. However, the Court will start collecting data on its accomplishments in these performance areas at the beginning of the 1999-2000 fiscal year. The data will enable management to systematically identify the organization's weaknesses and vulnerabilities and determine what corrective action to take. In future performance reports, the data will also provide an indication of the extent to which the Court is honouring the main results-related commitments it has made to Canadians.

The Tax Court of Canada will be a Free-Balance user by April 1, 1999. We should be developing accrual accounting policies during the 1999-2000 fiscal year and implementing the new system on or before April 1, 2001. Staff will be given the necessary accounting and financial management training and will learn to use the departmental systems connected to the new central system as courses become available.

Deliverables

- More timely and expeditious case processing
- Improved work procedures and processes
- Increased use of enabling technologies in support of program delivery
- Improved information sharing and coordination amongst operational elements
- More accurate and timely management information that improves decision-making
- More strategic management of the Court's operations through the establishment of an effective performance measurement system integrated with planning and reporting systems
- More timely, useful and reliable budget, accounting and performance data to support sound decision-making
- Increased accountability for public resources
- Increased public trust in the judicial system

b) By Service Lines

The Tax Court of Canada links its strategic objectives to its clients through its service lines. Consequently, the strategies described below encompass the initiatives which will be undertaken by the three Service Lines to meet our strategic priorities.

14

1. Service Line: Appeals Management

→ 1st Strategic Objectives:

To improve public access to the Court and services

$\rightarrow$ Strategies:

Over the next few months, this service line will be able to assess the effectiveness of its new appeals management system, which was implemented in December 1998. The new system will make it possible to overcome Year 2000-related technical problems while fostering the use of state-of-the-art, user-friendly technology that will ensure better access to information on appeals.

Deliverables

- More timely and expeditious case processing
- Computer system that complies with Year 2000 technological requirements
- Improved work procedures and processes

→ 2nd Strategic Objective:

To improve client service delivery

$\rightarrow$ Strategies:

The Tax Court of Canada is aware of the important role played by technology in facilitating access to justice, which results in speedier recourse to the courts and, ultimately, in savings for clients and for the Court as a whole.

The Court will be actively seeking innovative ways to improve access to its documentation by means of the following initiatives :

Electronic Filing

The Court has set itself the goal of implementing electronic filing of documents over the next few years. Electronic filing will permit a more rapid exchange of information between the Court and its clients, resulting in significant savings. It will reduce costs for appellants, accelerate document interchange between parties and make information more readily available to all Canadians. The Court's ability to respond to requests for information will be enhanced. This will offer new possibilities for streamlining and improving its appeals process and internal work processes.

Survey

As part of its efforts to improve its services, the Court conducted a pretest survey to find out what its clients think about the quality of its services. Their comments served as the basis for recommendations and will be used as yardsticks in the broader survey we will conduct in 1999-2000 and in the development of our services standards.

Appeals Brochure

In cooperation with the Strategic Planning and Communications service line, the Appeals Management service line, has developed a brochure explaining the procedure to be followed in income tax and GST appeals. A similar brochure, is now being prepared for appeals relating to Employment Insurance and the Canada Pension Plan.

Deliverables

- Higher-quality information provided to users, and improved access to that information
- More effective use of technology by the Court
- Greater client participation in initiatives to improve the Court
- Better and faster service to the public
- Client satisfaction
- Higher-quality information for our clients

2. Service Line: Corporate Services

→ Strategic Objective:

To achieve administrative efficiencies

$\rightarrow$ Strategies:

During the next months, this service line will be influenced by the need to continue to support in a timely and efficient manner while at the same time seeking administrative efficiencies by maximizing the use of available resources. To achieve this, Corporate Services will continue to:

- Seek every opportunity for using the private sector to deliver services where costs can be reduced and quality maintained in both core and non-core functions (printing, mail services, library services, etc.). The Court is currently using the private sector for the provision of its translation and classification services.
- Seek out and cultivate partnerships with other organizations for procurement of locally shared services.

Deliverables

- Effective, efficient service delivery through the negotiation of contracts with private sector
- Provide quality common services to other agencies at reduced costs
- Reduce cost of operating government administrative services
- Client satisfaction
- More effective utilization of resources

3. New Service Line: Strategic Planning and Communications

→ 1st Strategic Objective:

To improve public access to the Court and its services

$\rightarrow$ Strategies:

The Tax Court of Canada is aware of the important role played by technology in ensuring the effective, efficient flow of high-quality information to our clients and the Canadian public.

The Court will be actively seeking innovative ways to improve access to such information.

Publication of the Tax Court of Canada's Judgments

As part of its mandate, and with a view to improving its image and the quality of its services to the public, the Court is considering publishing its raw judgments on its Internet site. This initiative will provide a wide audience of professionals and the general public with access to the Court's mandate, procedures and judgments in both official languages. For exemple, we could add Employment Insurance decisions that are not currently available.

Deliverables

- Improved public access to the Court's judgments and to legal documentation
- Higher-quality information provided to users at a lower cost and improved access to that information

→ 2nd Strategic Objective:

To improve service delivery

$\rightarrow$ Strategies:

The Tax Court of Canada is aware that legal information and documentation of very high quality is needed to improve the delivery of its services.

The Court will be actively seeking innovative ways to provide services of very high quality by means of the following initiatives:

Legal Information Services

The Legal Information Services will make possible to improve the quality of our services by providing our internal clients with one-stop service as regards the statutes, rules and procedures governing the TCC so as to:

- More clearly identify the organization's legal information and training needs and respond to those needs
- Ensure that Court employees construe and apply uniformly TCC's rules and procedures;
- Ensure that operational practices reflect our rules of procedure and are accessible
- Inform all the Court's employees of amendments to statutes or regulations and enable them to understand the impact of those amendments on their responsibilities

Performance Indicators

To improve the effectiveness of its strategic planning and reporting system, the Strategic Planning and Communications service line will develop performance indicators that are appropriate to its mandate and its goal of improving service delivery.

Deliverables

- Higher-quality information provided to users and improved access to that information
- Client satisfaction
- More effective utilization of resources
- Performance indicators appropriate to the Court's various service lines
