The Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse (CCSA), Canada's national addictions agency, in partnership with the Northwest Territories, Nunavut and Yukon governments, has created a comprehensive source of information about substance abuse and addictions relevant to Canada's territories.

Use this Territorial Resource to:

- Learn about specific addictions issues in the Northwest Territories, Nunavut and Yukon
- Search the CCSA and National Native Alcohol and Drug Abuse Program (NNADAP) treatment directories
- Link to the home pages of Health and Social Services in each territory
- Link to substance abuse and addictions organizations, networks, programs and services
- Download documents, literature reviews, research and statistics pertaining to substance abuse and addictions in the territories.

For more information on this resource or to propose additional content, please contact an information specialist at info@ccsa.ca.
