FIRE MANAGER

exciting & challenging!

"My job has allowed me to develop, and contribute to protecting communities and forest resources in our province and across the continent."

Brent Schleppe has been fighting wildfires for 18 years—and it's clear he still enjoys his work. "You learn to expect the unexpected," Brent says. "That's what makes the job so exciting and challenging."

By managing people, resources and information, Brent helps prevent and put out Alberta's wildfires.

"Some of my most rewarding days on the job have been working on wildfire incident command teams...there are a lot of great opportunities for those interested in working with Alberta's forests."
