

crown prosecutor

Alberta

Between the office and courtroom appearances, a Crown prosecutor finds their diverse and exciting career facilitates the administration of justice and provides an honourable and privileged service to the province of Alberta. Working under the Criminal Code of Canada, the Youth Criminal Justice Act and the provincial statutes, a Crown prosecutor represents Alberta Justice in the prosecution of offences, including homicide, assault, impaired driving, break and enter, theft and fraud, speeding and other driving offences. In addition to prosecutions, the Crown prosecutor is involved in the argument of appeals to the Court of Queen's Bench, appearing on routine docket matters, legal research and opinions, and promotion of safe communities through liaisons with justice system stakeholders, policing agencies, support groups, and community justice groups.

"To me personally, it is the excitement, diversity and challenge associated with this role that led me to choose a career as a prosecutor over a career in private practice."

Are you up for the challenge?

A Crown prosecutor is not concerned with victory – only with justice.

- They enjoy an accomplished career with a true sense of responsibility, a genuine sense of pride, and the feeling that you are a part of very special team.
- The diversity of the job means no two days are the same.
- As one of our prosecutors stated, "representing Alberta Justice as a Crown Prosecutor is one of the most rewarding roles that you can play in the community."
