CAPACITY

7. (1) Subject to the criteria prescribed pursuant to section 10, a patient is capable with respect to treatment if the patient is, in the health practitioner's opinion, able

Capacity with respect to treatment

- (a) to understand the information that is relevant to making a decision concerning the treatment;
- (b) to understand that the information applies to his or her particular situation;
- (c) to understand that the patient has the right to make a decision; and
- (d) to appreciate the reasonably foreseeable consequences of a decision or lack of a decision.

(2) In determining a patient's capacity, a health practitioner shall, where he or she considers it necessary, inform the patient of the right to assistance and take into account such assistance as may be provided by an associate.

Assistance in determining capacity

(3) A person may be incapable with respect to some treatments and capable with respect to others.

Capacity depends on treatment

(4) A person may be incapable with respect to a treatment at one time and capable at another. 1996,c.10,s.7.

Capacity depends on time

8. When

Return of capacity

- (a) a patient becomes capable in the health practitioner's opinion with respect to treatment, consent to which has already been given or refused by another person in accordance with this Act; or
- (b) the health practitioner has been acting in an emergency without consent pursuant to section 16 or 17 and, in the health practitioner's opinion, the patient is or becomes capable and the circumstances now permit an informed decision, the patient's own decision with respect to treatment governs. 1996,c.10,s.8.

9. (1) Where a health practitioner is of the opinion that

Request for opinion of psychiatrist

- (a) pursuant to section 7, a patient is not capable; or

- (b) pursuant to section 8, a patient has not become capable, with respect to treatment, the patient may request that a reassessment of his or her capacity be conducted by a psychiatrist or such other practitioner as may be prescribed, and the health practitioner shall inform the patient of the right to make such request.

Confirmation

(2) Where the psychiatrist or other health practitioner does not confirm the opinion of the health practitioner, a decision made on behalf of the patient pursuant to section 11 is void. 1996,c.10,s.9.

Determination of capacity 10. In determining a patient's capacity with respect to treatment, a health practitioner shall apply such criteria and follow such standards and procedures as may be prescribed. 1996,c.10,s.10.

CONSENT ON INCAPABLE PATIENT'S BEHALF

Consent on incapable patient's behalf 11. (1) If a health practitioner proposes to administer treatment to a patient who is, in his or her opinion, incapable with respect to the treatment, a decision may be made on the patient's behalf by another person who is referred to in one of the following clauses, in descending order of priority:

- (a) the proxy;
- (b) the guardian if having the authority to give or refuse consent to treatment;
- (c) the spouse;
- (d) the son or daughter, or the parent, or a person who has assumed parental authority and who is lawfully entitled to give or refuse consent to treatment on the patient's behalf;
- (e) the brother or sister;
- (f) a person whom the health practitioner considers to be the patient's trusted friend with close knowledge of the wishes;
- (g) any other relative,

of the patient.

Inquiry (2) The health practitioner shall make reasonable inquiry as to the existence of persons referred to in subsection (1) and shall determine, in accordance with this section, who is entitled to make a decision.

Qualifications of consentor (3) Only a person who

- (a) is at least sixteen years of age;
- (b) is himself or herself capable with respect to the treatment; and
- (c) has knowledge of the incapable patient's circumstances and has been in recent contact with the patient, may make a decision.

Parent under sixteen (4) A person, though not sixteen years of age or more, may make a decision on behalf of his or her child if the person is capable with respect to the treatment.

Ranking (5) If a person described in one of the clauses of subsection (1) is available, a person described in a later clause may make a decision only if the one described in the earlier clause is not willing to assume the responsibility for making a decision or is himself or herself incapable with respect to the treatment.

(6) If no person described in any of the clauses of subsection (1) is available, capable with respect to the treatment, and willing to assume the responsibility for making a decision, or if there is disagreement among persons of the same class, such public official as may be empowered with the duty of public guardianship or as may be designated by the Minister may make a decision.

Decision-maker of last resort

(7) For the purpose of subsections (5) and (6), a person is available if it is possible for the health practitioner, within a time that is reasonable in the circumstances, to communicate with him or her and obtain a decision. 1996,c.10,s.11.

Meaning of "available"

12. Nothing in this Part authorizes a person to make a decision on an incapable patient's behalf with respect to any of the following:

Excluded matters

- (a) subject to any express authority given in a directive, a procedure the primary purpose of which is research except where the research is likely to be beneficial to the well-being of the patient;
- (b) sterilization that is not medically necessary for the protection of the patient's health;
- (c) an abortion except where the continuation of the pregnancy would be likely immediately to endanger her life or health.
- (d) the use of electric shock as aversive conditioning;
- (e) not proclaimed;
- (f) any other treatment prescribed in the regulations. 1996,c.10,s.12.

13. (1) A substitute decision-maker shall act in accordance with the following principles:

Principles

- (a) if the person knows that the patient has made a directive that contains instructions applicable to the circumstances, they must be followed, subject to clause (c);
- (b) if the person does not know of any such instructions, he or she shall act in accordance with any wishes applicable to the circumstances that he or she knows the patient expressed, orally or in writing, when capable, and believes the patient would still act on if capable;
- (c) if the person knows of, and there is evidence satisfactory to the person and the health practitioner of, wishes applicable to the circumstances that the patient expressed, orally or in writing, when capable, and believes the patient would still act on them if capable, and if the wishes are demonstrably more recent than the instructions contained in a directive, the wishes must be followed;
- (d) if the person does not know of any such instructions or wishes or if it is impossible to comply with such instructions or wishes, he or she shall act in the patient's best interests;

(e) so far as is practicable, the person shall attempt to involve the patient in consideration of the decision.

Best interests

(2) In deciding what a patient's best interests are, the substitute decision-maker shall take into consideration

(a) the values and beliefs that the person knows the patient held when capable and believes he or she would still act on if capable;

(b) the patient's current wishes, if they can be ascertained; and

(c) the following factors:

(i) whether the treatment is likely to

(A) improve the incapable person's condition or well-being,

(B) prevent the incapable person's condition or well-being from deteriorating, or

(C) reduce the extent to which, or the rate at which, the incapable person's condition or well-being is likely to deteriorate,

(ii) whether the patient's condition or well-being is likely to improve, remain the same or deteriorate without the treatment,

(iii) whether the benefit the patient is expected to obtain from the treatment outweighs the risk of harm to him or her,

(iv) whether a less restrictive or less intrusive treatment would be as beneficial as the treatment that is proposed. 1996,c.10,s.13.

Information

14. Notwithstanding any restriction relating to the disclosure of confidential medical information, a substitute decision-maker and an associate are entitled to receive all the information required for an informed consent as described in subsection 6(2). 1996,c.10,s.14.

Admission to hospital, etc.

15. Authority to give or refuse consent to treatment on an incapable patient's behalf includes authority to consent to the patient's admission to a hospital or to a psychiatric or other treatment facility for the purpose of the treatment. 1996,c.10,s.15.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

EMERGENCY TREATMENT

Emergency treatment despite refusal

16. If consent to a treatment is refused on an incapable person's behalf by his or her substitute decision-maker, the treatment may be administered despite the refusal if, in the opinion of the health practitioner proposing the treatment,

(a) there is an emergency; and

(b) the substitute decision-maker did not comply with section 13.

1996,c.10,s.16.

17. (1) Notwithstanding section 5, a health practitioner may administer treatment to a patient without consent if, in his or her opinion,

Emergency treatment without consent

(a) the patient is experiencing severe suffering or is at risk, if the treatment is not administered promptly, of suffering serious bodily harm; and

(b) it is not reasonably possible to obtain a decision from the patient or on the patient's behalf, or the delay required to do so will prolong the suffering that the patient is experiencing or will put the patient at risk of suffering serious bodily harm.

(2) If the health practitioner has reasonable grounds to believe that the patient, when capable expressed a wish to refuse consent to treatment of the kind that is proposed, he or she shall not administer that treatment. 1996,c.10,s.17.

Apparently valid refusal

PROTECTION FROM LIABILITY

18. (1) A health practitioner who administers treatment to a patient pursuant to section 16 or based on a consent which the health practitioner believes, on reasonable grounds and in good faith, to be sufficient for the purposes of this Part is not liable for administering it without consent.

Apparently valid consent

(2) A health practitioner who refrains from administering treatment to a patient because of a refusal or revocation of consent which the health practitioner believes, on reasonable grounds and in good faith, to be sufficient for the purposes of this Part is not liable for failure to administer the treatment.

Apparently valid refusal

(3) A health practitioner who administers treatment to a patient or refrains from doing so in accordance with section 17 is not liable for administering the treatment without consent or for failure to administer the treatment, as the case may be. 1996,c.10,s.18.

Emergency treatment

19. A substitute decision-maker or an associate, acting in good faith and in accordance with this Part, is not liable for making a decision. 1996, c.10,s.19.

Substitute or associate

PART III HEALTH CARE DIRECTIVES

20. (1) Every person over the age of sixteen years who is capable may execute a directive.

Capacity of maker

(2) A directive may

Content of directive

(a) stipulate treatment, procedures, or medication that the maker authorizes or refuses to consent to, or directs to be discontinued, in the circumstances set out in the directive;

- (b) stipulate circumstances in which the maker shall be permitted to die a natural death, receiving only palliative care intended to reduce pain and suffering;
- (c) appoint a proxy;
- (d) specify an event or condition upon which the directive becomes effective;
- (e) make any other direction concerning the health care or treatment of the maker. 1996,c.10,s.20.

Form of directive	(3) If a form of directive is prescribed, the use of the prescribed form is not mandatory.
Agreement of proxy	(4) The appointment of a proxy is valid only if the proxy, or another person at the direction of the proxy, agrees to the appointment in writing prior to the maker's incapacity. 1996,c.10,s.21.
Coming into effect of directive	22. A directive and the authority of a proxy become effective <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(a) when the maker ceases to be capable of making or communicating decisions; or</li> <li>(b) upon the occurrence of such other event or condition as may be specified in the directive,</li> </ul> and continue to be effective for the duration of the maker's incapacity or inability to communicate. 1996,c.10,s.22.
Inquiry	23. A health practitioner shall make reasonable inquiry as to the existence of a directive. 1996,c.10,s.23.
Effect of decision by maker	24. (1) A decision contained in a directive shall be as effective as if made by the maker when the maker had capacity to make the decision.
Effect of decision by proxy	(2) Subject to any express limitations in the directive and to section 13, a decision made by a proxy on behalf of a maker shall be as effective as if made by the maker when the maker had capacity to make the decision. 1996,c.10,s.24.

25. (1) So long as the maker has the capacity to make decisions, a directive may be revoked by Revocation

- (a) a later directive;
- (b) a later writing declaring an intention to revoke the directive by the maker and made in accordance with subsection 21(2); or
- (c) the destruction, with intent to revoke, of all original executed copies of the directive either by the maker or by some other person in the presence and at the direction of the maker.

(2) Unless the directive expressly provides otherwise, if, after executing a directive in which the spouse of the maker is appointed as proxy, the maker's marriage is terminated by a divorce or is found to be void or declared a nullity by a court in a proceeding to which the maker is a party, the appointment of the spouse as proxy is revoked. 1996,c.10, s.25. Effect of divorce

26. (1) A proxy may not delegate the authority to make decisions. No delegation

(2) Where more than one proxy is named in a directive and the directive does not indicate whether they are to act jointly or successively, they shall be deemed to be appointed to act successively, in the order named in the directive. More than one proxy

(3) Unless the directive provides otherwise, where more than one proxy is named in a directive to act jointly rather than successively, Joint proxies

- (a) the decision of the majority shall be deemed to be the decision of all; and
- (b) if one or more of them has died or is unwilling or, after reasonable inquiries, unavailable to make a decision, the remainder of them may make the decision and the decision of the majority of the remainder shall be deemed to be the decision of all. 1996,c.10, s.26.

27. (1) Any interested person who considers that a proxy is not acting in good faith may file a complaint with such public official as may be empowered with the duty of public guardianship or as may be designated by the Minister. Review of misconduct

(2) Upon receipt of a complaint the person referred to in subsection (1) shall conduct an investigation and endeavour to resolve the matter. Investigation

(3) Failing resolution, the person referred to in subsection (1) may apply to the court and the court may by order Application to court

- (a) suspend or terminate the appointment of the proxy and rescind a decision made by the proxy; and
- (b) if the directive does not appoint another proxy who can continue to act, substitute its own decision in place of the rescinded decision. 1996,c.10,s.27.

Proxy decision supersedes that of court and guardian

28. Unless a directive provides otherwise, a decision made by a proxy on behalf of a maker shall, subject to section 27, have priority over a decision made by a court or by any other person, including a guardian. 1996,c.10,s.28.

Medication for pain

29. Notwithstanding any instructions provided in a directive, the physician in attendance may prescribe medication to reduce pain and suffering. 1996,c.10,s.29.

Protection from liability re treatment

30. (1) No action lies against a person who administers or refrains from administering treatment to another person by reason only that the person

- (a) has acted in good faith in accordance with the decisions, wishes or instructions expressed in a directive or in accordance with a decision made by a proxy; or
- (b) has acted contrary to the decisions, wishes or instructions expressed in a directive if
  - (i) the person did not know of the existence of the directive or its contents, or
  - (ii) compliance with the directive would not be realistically possible or would be contrary to the ethical standards of his or her profession.

Presumption of validity

(2) A directive that has been acted upon and

- (a) is not executed in accordance with this Act;
- (b) has been revoked; or
- (c) was made by a person who was not competent to execute it, is deemed to be valid for the purposes of this Act if the person who acted upon it had no reason to believe that the directive was not in fact executed in accordance with this Act, was revoked or was made by a person who was not competent to execute it.

Protection from liability for proxy

(3) No action lies against any proxy

- (a) by reason only of having acted, in good faith, in accordance with the authority conferred by the directive; or
- (b) for failing to make decisions on behalf of the maker. 1996,c.10, s.30.

Gift to witness,
proxy, or person
signing for maker

(a) a beneficial devise, bequest, or other disposition or appointment of or affecting real or personal property under the will of the maker of a directive;
 (b) the proceeds of an insurance policy on the life of a maker; or
 (c) a share of a maker's estate under the laws governing intestate succession, is not void by reason only that the person has signed a directive on the maker's behalf, has been a witness to the making of a directive or is, or has acted as, the maker's proxy. 1996,c.10,s.31.

32. Not proclaimed. 1996,c.10,s.32. Registration

33. No inference or presumption shall arise by reason only that a person has not executed or has revoked a directive. 1996,c.10,s.33. No presumption

PART IV RECOGNITION OF EXTRA-PROVINCIAL DIRECTIVES

34. (1) A health care directive, whether it is made in Prince Edward Island or not, has the same effect as though it were made in accordance with Part III if Effect of extra-provincial directives

- (a) it meets the formal requirements of Part III; or
- (b) it was made under and meets the formal requirements established by the legislation of
  - (i) the jurisdiction where the directive was made, or
  - (ii) the jurisdiction where the person who made the directive was habitually resident at the time the directive was made.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), the formal requirements are the requirements relating to the formalities of execution of health care directives. Formal requirements

(3) A person implementing a health care directive may rely on a certification by a person purporting to be a lawyer or notary public in a jurisdiction certifying that the directive meets the formal requirements of the jurisdiction. Certification by lawyer

(4) A health care directive that does not meet the formal requirements described in subsection (1) has the same effect as a health care directive that was made in Prince Edward Island but that does not meet the formal requirements of Part III. Formal requirements not met

(5) In circumstances in which it is impractical to determine whether or not a health care directive meets the formal requirements described in subsection (1), the directive has the same effect as a health care directive that was made in Prince Edward Island but that did not meet the formal requirements of Part III. 1996,c.10,s.34. Where impractical to determine if requirements met
