CHAPTER F-2.1

FAMILY LAW ACT

1. (1) In this Act
- Definitions
- (a) “child” includes a person whom a parent has demonstrated a settled intention to treat as a child of his or her family, except under an arrangement where the child is placed for valuable consideration in a foster home by a person having lawful custody; child
- (a.1) “child support guidelines” means the guidelines established by the regulations; child support guidelines
- (b) “cohabit” means to live together in a conjugal relationship, whether within or outside marriage; cohabit
- (c) “court” means the Family Section of the Supreme Court; court
- (d) “domestic contract” means a domestic contract as defined in Part IV; domestic contract
- (e) “parent” includes a person who has demonstrated a settled intention to treat a child as a child of his or her family, except under an arrangement where the child is placed for valuable consideration in a foster home by a person having lawful custody; parent
- (f) “parental agreement” means a parental agreement as defined in Part IV; parental agreement
- (g) “spouse” means either of a man and woman who spouse
- (i) are married to each other, or
- (ii) have together entered into a marriage that is voidable or void, in good faith on the part of the person asserting a right under this Act.
- (2) In this Act, a reference to marriage includes a marriage that is actually or potentially polygamous, if it was celebrated in a jurisdiction whose system of law recognizes it as valid. Polygamous marriage
- (3) For the purposes of determining when spouses are living separate and apart, Living separate and apart
- (a) spouses shall be deemed to have lived separate and apart for any period during which they lived apart and either of them had the intention to live separate and apart from the other; and
- (b) a period during which spouses have lived separate and apart shall not be considered to have been interrupted or terminated

- (i) only because either spouse has become incapable of forming or having an intention to continue to live separate and apart or of continuing to live separate and apart of the spouse's own volition if it appears to the court that the separation would probably have continued if the spouse had not become so incapable, or
- (ii) only because the spouses have resumed living together during a period of, or periods totalling, not more than ninety days with reconciliation as the primary purpose. 1995,c.12,s.1; 1997,c.16,s.1 {eff.} Nov. 27/97.

PROCEDURE

- Staying application 2. (1) If, in an application under this Act, it appears to the court that for the appropriate determination of the spouses' affairs it is necessary or desirable to have other matters determined first or simultaneously, the court may stay the application until another proceeding is brought or determined as the court considers appropriate.
- Application as prescribed in rules of court (2) An application under this Act may be made in the manner prescribed in the rules of court.
- Extension of times (3) The court may, on motion, extend a time prescribed by this Act if it is satisfied that
- (a) there are apparent grounds for relief;
 - (b) relief is unavailable because of delay that has been incurred in good faith; and
 - (c) no person will suffer substantial prejudice by reason of the delay.
- Closed hearings (4) The court may exclude the public from a hearing, or any part thereof, where, in the opinion of the presiding judge, the desirability of protecting against the consequences of possible disclosure of intimate financial or personal matters outweighs the desirability of holding the hearing in public and the court may by order prohibit the publication of any matter connected with the application or given in evidence at the hearing.
- Incorporation of contract in order (5) A provision of a domestic contract in respect of a matter that is dealt with in this Act may be incorporated in an order made under this Act.
- Act subject to contracts (6) A domestic contract dealing with a matter that is also dealt with in this Act prevails unless this Act provides otherwise.
- Registration of orders (7) An order made under this Act that affects real property does not affect the acquisition of an interest in the real property by a person acting in good faith without notice of the order, unless the order is registered in the proper land registry office. 1995,c.12,s.2.

MEDIATION

3. (1) In an application under this Act, the court may, on motion, appoint a person whom the parties have selected to mediate any matter that the court specifies. Mediation
- (2) The court shall appoint only a person who Consent to act
 (a) has consented to act as mediator; and
 (b) has agreed to file a report with the court within the period of time specified by the court.
- (3) The mediator shall confer with the parties, and with the children if the mediator considers it appropriate to do so, and shall endeavour to obtain an agreement between the parties. Duty of mediator
- (4) Before entering into mediation, the parties shall decide whether Full or limited report
 (a) the mediator is to file a full report on the mediation, including anything that he or she considers relevant; or
 (b) the mediator is to file a limited report that sets out only the agreement reached by the parties or states only that the parties did not reach agreement.
- (5) The mediator shall file with the registrar of the court a full or limited report, as the parties have decided, and shall give a copy to each of the parties. Filing and copies of report
- (6) If the parties have decided that the mediator is to file a limited report, no evidence of anything said or of any admission or communication made in the course of the mediation is admissible in any proceeding, except with the consent of all parties to the proceeding in which the mediator was appointed. Admissions, etc., in the course of mediation
- (7) The court shall require the parties to pay the mediator's fees and expenses and shall specify in the order the proportions or amounts of the fees and expenses that each party is required to pay. Fees and expenses
- (8) The court may require one party to pay all the mediator's fees and expenses if the court is satisfied that payment would cause the other party or parties serious financial hardship. 1995,c.12,s.3. Idem, serious financial hardship

PART I
FAMILY PROPERTY

4. (1) In this Part Definitions
 (a) “family home” means a family home under section 19 and includes property that is a family home under that section at the valuation date; family home

- net family property (b) “net family property” means the value of all the property, including the income from the property, that a spouse owns on the valuation date after deducting
- (i) the spouse's debts and other liabilities on the valuation date,
 - (ii) the value of property that the spouse owned on the date of the marriage, valued at the date of the marriage, less the spouse's debts and other liabilities on the date of the marriage,
 - (iii) the value of the following kinds of property acquired by the spouse after the date of the marriage and owned by the spouse on the valuation date:
 1. A gift or inheritance from a third person.
 2. Damages or a right to damages for personal injury, nervous shock, mental distress or loss of guidance, care and companionship, or the part of a settlement that represents those damages.
 3. Proceeds or a right to proceeds of a contract of life, accident or sickness insurance, as defined in the Insurance Act R.S.P.E.I. 1988, Cap. I-4, if the insurance was not purchased with intent to defeat a claim under this Part.
 - (iv) the value of property owned by the spouse on the valuation date into which property of a kind described in paragraph 1, 2 or 3 of subclause (iii) acquired by the spouse after the date of the marriage can be traced, and
 - (v) the value of property owned by the spouse on the valuation date that the spouses have agreed by a domestic contract is not to be included in the spouse's net family property;
- pension benefit (b.1) “pension benefit” means any pension, allowance, annuity, return of contributions or other benefit or amount payable under a pension plan to a spouse;
- property (c) “property” means any interest, present or future, vested or contingent, in real or personal property and includes
- (i) property over which a spouse has, alone or in conjunction with another person, a power of appointment exercisable in favour of himself or herself,
 - (ii) property disposed of by a spouse but over which the spouse has, alone or in conjunction with another person, a power to revoke the disposition or a power to consume or dispose of the property, if the power may be exercised to benefit himself or herself, and
 - (iii) pension benefits, whether vested or not;
- valuation date (d) “valuation date” means the earliest of the following dates:
 1. The date the spouses begin to live separate and apart.
 2. The date a divorce is granted.

3. The date the marriage is declared a nullity.
4. The date one of the spouses commences an application based on subsection 6(2) (improvident depletion) that is subsequently granted.

(2) For the purposes of the definition of “net family property” in subsection (1), except subclauses (iii), (iv) and (v), the value of property that a spouse owns on a given date and the debts and other liabilities of a spouse on a given date shall be calculated as of close of business on that date. Date and time of valuation

(3) For the purposes of subclause (iii) of the definition of “net family property” in subsection (1), the value of property acquired by a spouse after the date of the marriage is the lesser of Idem

- (a) the value calculated as of close of business on the date of acquisition; and
- (b) the value calculated as of close of business on the valuation date.

(4) For the purposes of subclause (iv) of the definition of “net family property” in subsection (1), the value to be deducted is the lesser of Idem

- (a) the value of the property described in paragraph 1, 2 or 3 of subclause (iii) of the definition of “net family property”, calculated as of close of business on the date of acquisition; and
- (b) the value of the property owned on the valuation date, to the extent that the property referred to in clause (a) can be traced into it, calculated as of close of business on the valuation date.

(5) For the purposes of subclause (v) of the definition of “net family property in subsection (1), the value of property that the spouses have agreed by a domestic contract is not to be included in a spouse's net family property shall be calculated as of close of business on the valuation date, unless a contrary intention appears from the contract. Idem

(6) If a spouse's net family property as calculated under this section is less than zero, it shall be deemed to be equal to zero. Net family property never less than zero

(7) The onus of proving a deduction under subclauses (i) to (v) of the definition of “net family property” in subsection (1) is on the person claiming it. 1995,c.12,s.4; 1997,c.15,s.1; 1998,c.84,s.9 {eff.} Aug. 5/00. Onus of proving deduction

5. (1) Where a spouse transfers property during his or her lifetime for inadequate consideration or for no consideration and with intent to defeat a claim under this Part, the property shall be deemed to have been owned on the valuation date by the transferor spouse for the purpose of determining his or her net family property. Transfers to defeat claims

Presumption of intent to defeat claim	(2) The fact that a spouse transferred property during the ninety day period ending with the date on which the spouses began to live separate and apart is proof, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that the transfer was made with intent to defeat a claim under this Part.
Revesting orders	(3) The court may, on an application under section 7, make an order against the transferee or a subsequent transferee revesting all or part of the transferred property in the transferor spouse, or in the spouse's personal representative, where <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) the value of the transferred property has been included in the spouse's net family property as a result of subsection (1); (b) there are insufficient assets to satisfy an order made under section 9; and (c) the transferee or subsequent transferee had notice that the transfer was made with intent to defeat a claim under this Act.
Compensation for transferee	(4) Where property is revested in accordance with subsection (3), the transferee or subsequent transferee is entitled to compensation from the transferor spouse, or from the spouse's estate, for any value given as consideration for the transfer <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) less any depreciation in the value of the asset since the transfer; (b) less any amount the court considers just on account of use or enjoyment of the property by the transferee; (c) plus any amount the court considers just on account of improvements to the property by the transferee.
Transferee a party	(5) A transferee who would be affected by an order made under subsection (3) shall be named as a party to the application. 1995,c.12,s.5.
Equalization of net family properties	6. (1) When a divorce is granted or a marriage is declared a nullity, or when the spouses are living separate and apart, the spouse whose net family property is the lesser of the two net family properties is entitled to one-half the difference between them.
Improvident depletion of net family property	(2) When spouses are cohabiting, if there is a serious danger that one spouse may improvidently deplete his or her net family property, the other spouse may on an application under section 7 have the difference between the net family properties divided as if the spouses were living separate and apart.
No further division	(3) After the court has made an order for division based on subsection (2), neither spouse may make a further application under section 7 in respect of their marriage.
Idem	(4) Subsection (3) applies even though the spouses continue to cohabit, unless a domestic contract between the spouses provides otherwise.

(5) The court may award a spouse an amount that is more or less than half the difference between the net family properties if the court is of the opinion that equalizing the net family properties would be unconscionable, having regard to

Variation of share

- (a) a spouse's failure to disclose to the other spouse debts or other liabilities existing at the date of the marriage;
- (b) the fact that debts or other liabilities claimed in reduction of a spouse's net family property were incurred recklessly or in bad faith;
- (c) the part of a spouse's net family property that consists of gifts made by the other spouse;
- (d) a spouse's intentional or reckless depletion of his or her net family property;
- (e) the fact that the amount a spouse would otherwise receive under subsection (1) or (2) is disproportionately large in relation to a period of cohabitation within the marriage that is less than five years;
- (f) the fact that one spouse has incurred a disproportionately larger amount of debts or other liabilities than the other spouse for the support of the family;
- (g) a written agreement between the spouses that is not a domestic contract; or
- (h) any other circumstance relating to the acquisition, disposition, preservation, maintenance, improvement, deterioration, destruction, division or transfer of property.

(6) The court may award a spouse an amount that is more or less than half the difference between the net family properties if the court is of the opinion that equalizing the net family properties would be inequitable because of a substantial change after the valuation date in the value of any property included in either spouse's net family property.

Changes in value after the valuation date

(7) Where there is no difference between the net family properties of the spouses, the court may award a spouse either or both of the following:

Equal net family properties

1. An amount in order to avoid a result that would, in the court's opinion, be unconscionable, having regard to the factors mentioned in clauses (5)(a) to (h).
2. An amount in order to avoid a result that would, in the court's opinion, be inequitable because of a substantial change after the valuation date in the value of any property included in either spouse's net family property.

(8) The purpose of this section is to recognize that child care, household management and financial provision are the joint responsibilities of the spouses and that inherent in their relationship there is equal contribution, whether financial or otherwise, by the spouses to the assumption of these responsibilities, entitling each spouse to the equalization of the net family properties, subject only to the equitable considerations set out in subsections (5) to (7). 1995,c.12,s.6.

- Application to court 7. (1) The court may, on the application of a spouse or former spouse, determine any matter respecting the spouse's entitlement under section 6.
- Personal action, estates (2) Entitlement under subsections 6(1) and (2) is personal as between the spouses but an application based on subsection 6(1) or (2) and commenced before a spouse's death may be continued by or against the deceased spouse's estate.
- Limitation (3) An application based on subsection 6(1) shall not be brought after the earlier of
 (a) two years after the day the marriage is terminated by divorce or judgment of nullity;
 (b) six years after the day the spouses begin to live separate and apart. 1995,c.12,s.7.
- Statement of property 8. (1) In an application under section 7, each party shall serve on the other and file with the court, in the manner and form prescribed by the rules of the court, a statement verified by oath disclosing particulars of
 (a) the party's property and debts and other liabilities,
 (i) as of the date of the marriage,
 (ii) as of the valuation date, and
 (iii) as of the date of the statement;
 (b) the deductions that the party claims under subclauses (i) to (v) of the definition of "net family property" in subsection 4(1); and
 (c) all property that the party disposed of during the two years immediately preceding the making of the statement, or during the marriage, whichever period is shorter.
- Costs related to failure to disclose (2) Where a spouse, without reasonable cause, fails to comply fully and accurately with subsection (1), the court shall award the costs related to the failure against the spouse. 1995,c.12,s.8.
- Powers of court 9. (1) In an application under section 7, the court may order
 (a) that one spouse pay to the other spouse the amount to which the court finds that spouse to be entitled under this Part;
 (b) that security, including a charge on property, be given for the performance of an obligation imposed by the order;
 (c) that, if necessary to avoid hardship, an amount referred to in clause (a) be paid in instalments during a period not exceeding ten years or that payment of all or part of the amount be delayed for a period not exceeding ten years; and

- (d) that, if appropriate to satisfy an obligation imposed by the order,
- (i) property be transferred to or in trust for or vested in a spouse, whether absolutely, for life or for a term of years, or
 - (ii) any property be partitioned or sold.

(2) The court may, at the time of making an order for instalment or delayed payments or on motion at a later time, order that the spouse who has the obligation to make payments shall

Financial information, inspections

- (a) furnish the other spouse with specified financial information, which may include periodic financial statements; and
- (b) permit inspections of specified property of the spouse by or on behalf of the other spouse, as the court directs.

(3) If the court is satisfied that there has been a material change in the circumstances of the spouse who has the obligation to make instalment or delayed payments, the court may, on motion, vary the order, but shall not vary the amount to which the court found the spouse to be entitled under this Part.

Variation

(4) Subsections (3) and 2(3) (extension of times) do not permit the postponement of payment beyond the ten-year period mentioned in clause (1)(c). 1995,c.12,s.9.

Ten-year period

10. (1) A person may apply to the court for the determination of a question between that person and his or her spouse or former spouse as to the ownership or right to possession of particular property, other than a question arising out of an equalization of net family properties under section 6, and the court may

Determination of questions of title between spouses

- (a) declare the ownership or right to possession;
- (b) if the property has been disposed of, order payment in compensation for the interest of either party;
- (c) order that the property be partitioned or sold for the purpose of realizing the interests in it; and
- (d) order that either or both spouses give security, including a charge on property, for the performance of an obligation imposed by the order, and may make ancillary orders or give ancillary directions.

(2) An application based on subsection (1) may be made by or continued against the estate of a deceased spouse. 1995,c.12,s.10.

Estates

11. (1) An order made under section 9 or 10 shall not be made so as to require or result in the sale of an operating business or farm or so as to seriously impair its operation, unless there is no reasonable alternative method of satisfying the award.

Operating business or farm

(2) To comply with subsection (1), the court may

Idem

- (a) order that one spouse pay to the other a share of the profits from the business or farm; and
- (b) if the business or farm is incorporated, order that one spouse transfer or have the corporation issue to the other shares in the corporation.

Notice

(3) The court shall not order the transfer or issue of shares in a corporation to a spouse pursuant to clause (2)(b) unless notice is first given to the corporation and the shareholders thereof other than the spouses. 1995,c.12,s.11.

Orders for preservation

12. In an application under section 7 or 10, if the court considers it necessary for the protection of the other spouse's interests under this Part, the court may make an interim or final order

- (a) restraining the depletion of a spouse's property; and
- (b) for the possession, delivering up, safe-keeping and preservation of the property. 1995,c.12,s.12.

Variation and realization of security

13. If the court has ordered security or charged a property with security for the performance of an obligation under this Part, the court may, on motion,

- (a) vary or discharge the order; or
- (b) on notice to all persons having an interest in the property, direct its sale for the purpose of realizing the security or charge. 1995,c.12,s.13.

Trust presumptions

14. (1) Subject to subsection (2), the rule of law applying a presumption of resulting trust shall be applied in questions of the ownership of property between husband and wife as if they were not married.

Idem

(2) The fact that property is held in the name of spouses as joint tenants is proof, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that the spouses are intended to own the property as joint tenants.

Idem

(3) For the purposes of subsection (2), money on deposit in the name of both spouses shall be deemed to be in the name of the spouses as joint tenants. 1995,c.12,s.14.

Constructive trust

15. (1) A spouse is not entitled to an equitable remedy, including constructive trust, with respect to property owned by his or her spouse as restitution for his or her contribution, either direct or indirect, to the acquisition, maintenance, preservation or improvement of the property.

Resulting trust

(2) A spouse is not entitled to an equitable remedy, including resulting trust, with respect to property owned by his or her spouse based on the common or presumed intention of the spouses regarding his or her contribution, either direct or indirect, to the acquisition, maintenance, preservation or improvement of the property. 1995,c.12,s.15.

16. The property rights of spouses arising out of their marriage are governed by the internal law of the place where both spouses had their last common habitual residence or, if there is no place where the spouses had a common habitual residence, by the law of Prince Edward Island. 1995,c.12,s.16. Conflict of laws

17. (1) This Part applies to property owned by spouses Application of Part
 (a) whether they became spouses before, on or after the date on which this Part comes into force; and
 (b) whether the property was acquired before, on or after that day. 1995,c.12,s.17.

(2) Section 14 applies whether the event giving rise to the presumption occurred before, on or after the date this Part comes into force. 1995,c.12,s.17. Application of section 14

PART II FAMILY HOME

18. In this Part “property” means real or personal property. 1995,c.12,s.18. property

19. (1) Every property in which a married person has an interest and that is or, if the spouses are living separate and apart, was at the time of separation ordinarily occupied by the person and his or her spouse as their family residence is their family home. Family home

(2) The ownership of a share or shares, or of an interest in a share or shares, of a corporation entitling the owner to occupy a housing unit owned by the corporation shall be deemed to be an interest in the unit for the purposes of subsection (1). Ownership of shares

(3) If property that includes a family home is normally used for a purpose other than residential, the family home is only the part of the property that may reasonably be regarded as necessary to the use and enjoyment of the residence. 1995,c.12,s.19. Residence on farmland, etc.

20. (1) Both spouses have an equal right to possession of a family home. Idem

(2) When only one of the spouses has an interest in a family home, the other spouse's right of possession Possession of family home
 (a) is personal as against the first spouse; and

(b) unless a separation agreement or court order provides otherwise, ends on the date a divorce is granted or the marriage is declared a nullity, as the case may be. 1995,c.12,s.20.

Designation of family home

21. (1) One or both spouses may designate as a family home any property that is their family home and in which one or both of them has an interest, in the form prescribed by the regulations made under this Act.

Contiguous property

(2) The designation may include property that is described in the designation and is contiguous to the family home.

Registration

(3) The designation may be registered in the proper land registry office.

Effect of designation by both spouses

(4) On the registration of a designation made by both spouses, any other property that is a family home under section 19 but is not designated by both spouses ceases to be a family home until the designation is cancelled.

Effect of designation by one spouse

(5) On the registration of a designation made by one spouse only, any other property that is a family home under section 19 remains a family home.

Cancellation of designation

(6) The designation of a family home is cancelled on the registration or deposit of

- (a) a judgment of divorce or nullity;
- (b) an order under clause 24(e) cancelling the designation; or
- (c) proof of death of one of the spouses.

When property ceases to be family home

(7) On the registration or deposit of a judgment, order or proof under clause (6)(a), (b) or (c), the property ceases to be a family home.

Idem

(8) A designation of a family home is cancelled on the registration or deposit of a cancellation, in the form prescribed by the regulations, executed by the person or persons who made the original designation. 1995,c.12,s.21.

Alienation of family home

22. (1) No spouse shall dispose of or encumber an interest in a family home unless

- (a) the other spouse joins in the instrument or consents to the transaction;
- (b) the other spouse has released all rights under this Part by a separation agreement;
- (c) a court order has authorized the transaction or has released the property from the application of this Part; or

(d) the property is not designated by both spouses as a family home and a designation of another property as a family home, made by both spouses, is registered and not cancelled.

(2) If a spouse disposes of or encumbers an interest in a family home in contravention of subsection (1), the transaction may be set aside on an application under section 24, unless the person holding the interest or encumbrance at the time of the application acquired it for value, in good faith and without notice, at the time of acquiring it or making an agreement to acquire it, that the property was a family home.

Setting aside
transaction

(3) For the purpose of subsection (2), an affidavit of the person making the disposition or encumbrance

Proof that property
not a family home

(a) verifying that he or she is not, or was not, a spouse at the time of the disposition or encumbrance;

(b) verifying that the person is a spouse who is not living separate and apart from his or her spouse and that the property is not occupied by the spouses as their family residence;

(c) verifying that the person is a spouse who is living separate and apart from his or her spouse and that the property was not occupied by the spouses, at the time of their separation, as their family residence;

(d) where the property is not designated by both spouses as a family home, verifying that a designation of another property as a family home, made by both spouses, is registered and not cancelled; or

(e) verifying that the other spouse has released all rights under this Part by a separation agreement, shall, unless the person to whom the disposition or encumbrance is made had actual notice to the contrary, be deemed to be sufficient proof that the property is not a family home.

(4) The affidavit shall be deemed to be sufficient proof that the property is not a family home if it is made by the attorney of the person making the disposition or encumbrance, on the basis of the attorney's personal knowledge.

Idem, attorney's personal knowledge

(5) This section does not apply to the acquisition of an interest in property by operation of law. 1995,c.12,s.22.

Liens arising by operation of law

23. (1) When a person proceeds to realize upon a lien, encumbrance or execution or exercises a forfeiture against property that is a family home, the spouse who has a right of possession under section 20 has the same right of redemption or relief against forfeiture as the other spouse and is entitled to the same notice respecting the claim and its enforcement or realization.

Right of redemption
and to notice

- Service of notice (2) A notice to which a spouse is entitled under subsection (1) shall be deemed to be sufficiently given if served or given personally or by registered mail addressed to the spouse at his or her usual or last known address or, if none, the address of the family home, and, if notice is served or given by mail, the service shall be deemed to have been made on the fifth day after the day of mailing.
- Payments by spouse (3) If a spouse makes a payment in exercise of the right conferred by subsection (1), the payment shall be applied in satisfaction of the claim giving rise to the lien, encumbrance, execution or forfeiture.
- Realization may continue in spouse's absence (4) Despite any other Act, when a person proceeds to realize upon a lien, encumbrance or execution or exercises a forfeiture and there is no response to a notice given under subsection (2), the realization or exercise of forfeiture may continue in the absence and without regard to the interest of the spouse and the spouse's rights under this section end on the completion of the realization or forfeiture. 1995,c.12,s.23.
- Powers of court respecting alienation 24. The court may, on the application of a spouse or person having an interest in property, by order
 - (a) determine whether or not the property is a family home and, if so, its extent;
 - (b) authorize the disposition or encumbrance of the family home if the court finds that the spouse whose consent is required,
 - (i) cannot be found or is not available,
 - (ii) is not capable of giving or withholding consent, or
 - (iii) is unreasonably withholding consent, subject to any conditions, including provision of other comparable accommodation or payment in place of it, that the court considers appropriate;
 - (c) dispense with a notice required to be given under section 23;
 - (d) direct the setting aside of a transaction disposing of or encumbering an interest in the family home contrary to subsection 22(1) and the revesting of the interest or any part of it on the conditions that the court considers appropriate; and
 - (e) cancel a designation made under section 21 if the property is not a family home. 1995,c.12,s.24.
- Order for possession of family home 25. (1) Regardless of the ownership of a family home and its contents, and despite section 20 (spouse's right of possession), the court on application may, by order
 - (a) provide for the delivering up, safekeeping and preservation of the family home and its contents;

Application of child support guidelines	(11) A court making an order for the support of a child shall do so in accordance with the child support guidelines.
Exception, special provisions	(12) Despite subsection (11), a court may award an amount that is different from the amount that would be determined in accordance with the child support guidelines if the court is satisfied, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) that special provisions in an order or a written agreement respecting the financial obligations of the parents, or the division or transfer of their property, directly or indirectly benefit a child, or that special provisions have otherwise been made for the benefit of a child; and (b) that the application of the child support guidelines would result in an amount of child support that is inequitable given those special provisions.
Reasons	(13) Where the court awards, under subsection (12), an amount that is different from the amount that would be determined in accordance with the child support guidelines, the court shall record its reasons for doing so.
Exception, consent orders	(14) Despite subsection (11), a court may award an amount that is different from the amount that would be determined in accordance with the child support guidelines on the consent of both parents if the court is satisfied that <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) reasonable arrangements have been made for the support of the child to whom the order relates; and (b) where support for the child is payable out of public money, the arrangements do not provide for an amount less than the amount that would be determined in accordance with the child support guidelines.
Reasonable arrangements	(15) For the purposes of clause (14)(a), in determining whether reasonable arrangements have been made for the support of a child, <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) the court shall have regard to the child support guidelines; and (b) the court shall not consider the arrangements to be unreasonable solely because the amount of support agreed to is not the same as the amount that would otherwise have been determined in accordance with the child support guidelines. 1995,c.12,s.33; 1997,c.16,s.3; 2000(2nd),c.3,s.62; 2001,c.19,s.16; 2002,c.7,s.2,3; 2005,c.40,s.9.

34. (1) In an application under section 33, the court may make an interim or final order

Powers of court

- (a) requiring that an amount be paid periodically, whether annually or otherwise and whether for an indefinite or limited period, or until the happening of a specified event;
- (b) requiring that a lump sum be paid or held in trust;
- (c) requiring that property be transferred to or in trust for or vested in the dependant, whether absolutely, for life or for a term of years;
- (d) respecting any matter authorized to be ordered under clause 25(1)(a), (b), (c), (d) or (e) (family home);
- (e) requiring that some or all of the money payable under the order be paid into court or to another appropriate person or agency for the dependant's benefit;
- (f) requiring that support be paid in respect of any period before the date of the order;
- (g) requiring payment to a person or agency referred to in subsection 33(3) of an amount in reimbursement for a benefit or assistance referred to in that subsection, including a benefit or assistance provided before the date of the order;
- (h) requiring payment of expenses in respect of a child's prenatal care and birth;
- (i) requiring that a spouse or common-law partner who has a contract of life insurance as defined in the Insurance Act designate the other spouse or a child as the beneficiary irrevocably;
- (j) requiring that a spouse or common-law partner who has an interest in a pension plan or other benefit plan designate the other spouse or common-law partner or a child as beneficiary under the plan and not change that designation;
- (k) requiring the securing of payment under the order, by a charge on property or otherwise; and
- (l) requiring that income tax returns, notices of assessment, and notices of reassessment for the previous year be filed annually with the child support service, established by regulations made under section 61, for the review and recalculation, in accordance with the Family Law Act Child Support Guidelines (EC668/97) and the Family Law Act Administrative Recalculation of Child Support Regulations (EC465/03) of the amount of child support payable under an order.

(2) An order for support may be assigned to a person or agency referred to in subsection 33(3)(a) or (b).

Assignment of support

(3) An order for support binds the estate of the person having the support obligation unless the order provides otherwise.

Support order binds

Idem	(3.1) A person or an agency referred to in subsection 33(3) to whom or to which an order for support is assigned is entitled to the payments due under the order and has the same right to be notified of and to participate in proceedings under this Act to vary, rescind, suspend or enforce the order as the person who would otherwise be entitled to the payments.
Indexing of support payments	(4) In an order made under clause (1)(a), other than an order for the support of a child, the court may provide that the amount payable shall be increased annually on the order's anniversary date by the indexing factor as defined in subsection (5).
Definition	(5) The indexing factor for a given month is the percentage change in the Consumer Price Index for Canada for prices of all items since the same month of the previous year, as published by Statistics Canada. 1995,c.12,s.34; 1995,c.12,s.33; 1997,c.16,s.4 {eff.} Nov. 27/97; 2002,c.7,s.2; 2003,c.6,s.1.
Domestic contract, etc., may be filed with court	35. (1) A person who is a party to a domestic contract or parental agreement may file the contract or agreement with the registrar of the court together with the person's affidavit stating that the contract or agreement is in effect and has not been set aside or varied by a court or agreement.
Effect of filing	(2) A provision for support or maintenance contained in a contract or agreement that is filed in this manner <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) may be enforced; (b) may be varied under section 37; and (c) except in the case of a provision for the support of a child, may be increased under section 38, as if it were an order of the court. 1997,c.16,s.5 {eff.} Nov. 27/97.
Setting aside available	(3) Subsection 33(4) (setting aside in unconscionable circumstances, etc.) applies to a contract or agreement that is filed in this manner.
Enforcement available despite waiver	(4) Subsection (1) and clause (2)(a) apply despite an agreement to the contrary.
Existing contracts, etc.	(5) Subsections (1) and (2) also apply to contracts and agreements made before the date on which this Part comes into force.
Existing arrears	(6) Clause (2)(a) also applies to arrears accrued before the date on which this Part comes into force. 1995,c.12,s.35.
Effect of divorce proceeding	36. (1) When a divorce proceeding is commenced under the Divorce Act (Canada), an application for support under this Part that has not been adjudicated is stayed, unless the court orders otherwise.

(2) The court that deals with a divorce proceeding under the Divorce Act (Canada) may determine the amount of arrears owing under an order for support made under this Part and make an order respecting that amount at the same time as it makes an order under the Divorce Act (Canada).

Arrears may be included in order

(3) If a marriage is terminated by judgment of divorce or declaration of nullity and the question of support is not adjudicated in the divorce or nullity proceedings, an order for support made under this Part continues in force according to its terms. 1995,c.12,s.36.

Idem

37. (1) An application to the court for variation of an order made or confirmed under this Part may be made by

Application for variation

- (a) a dependant or respondent named in the order;
- (b) a parent of a dependant referred to in clause (a);
- (c) the personal representative of a respondent referred to in clause (a); or
- (d) a person or agency referred to in subsection 33(3).

Application for variation

(2) In the case of an order for support of a spouse, common-law partner or parent, if the court is satisfied that there has been a material change in the dependant's or respondent's circumstances or that evidence not available on the previous hearing has become available, the court may

Powers of court, spouse and parent support

- (a) discharge, vary or suspend a term of the order, prospectively or retroactively;
- (b) relieve the respondent from the payment of part or all of the arrears or any interest due on them; and
- (c) make any other order under section 34 that the court considers appropriate in the circumstances referred to in section 33.

(2.1) In the case of an order for support of a child, if the court is satisfied that there has been a change in circumstances within the meaning of the child support guidelines or that evidence not available on the previous hearing has become available, the court may

Powers of court, child support

- (a) discharge, vary or suspend a term of the order, prospectively or retroactively;
- (b) relieve the respondent from the payment of part or all of the arrears or any interest due on them; and
- (c) make any other order for the support of a child that the court could make on an application under section 33.

(2.2) A court making an order under subsection (2.1) shall do so in accordance with the child support guidelines.

Application of child support guidelines

Exception, special provisions	(2.3) Despite subsection (2.2), a court may award an amount that is different from the amount that would be determined in accordance with the child support guidelines if the court is satisfied (a) that special provisions in an order or a written agreement respecting the financial obligations of the parents, or the division or transfer of their property, directly or indirectly benefit a child, or that special provisions have otherwise been made for the benefit of a child; and (b) that the application of the child support guidelines would result in an amount of child support that is inequitable given those special provisions.
Reasons	(2.4) Where the court awards, under subsection (2.3), an amount that is different from the amount that would be determined in accordance with the child support guidelines, the court shall record its reasons for doing so.
Exception, consent orders	(2.5) Despite subsection (2.2), a court may award an amount that is different from the amount that would be determined in accordance with the child support guidelines on the consent of both parents if the court is satisfied that (a) reasonable arrangements have been made for the support of the child to whom the order relates; and (b) where support for the child is payable out of public money, the arrangements do not provide for an amount less than the amount that would be determined in accordance with the child support guidelines.
Reasonable arrangements	(2.6) For the purposes of clause (2.5)(a), in determining whether reasonable arrangements have been made for the support of a child (a) the court shall have regard to the child support guidelines; and (b) the court shall not consider the arrangements to be unreasonable solely because the amount of support agreed to is not the same as the amount that would otherwise have been determined in accordance with the child support guidelines.
Limitation on applications for variation	(3) No application for variation shall be made within six months after the making of the order for support or the disposition of another application for variation in respect of the same order, except by leave of the court. 1995,c.12,s.37; 1997c,16,s.6 {eff.} Nov. 27/97; 2002,c.7,s.4.
Non-application to orders Application to have existing order indexed	38. subsection 33(3), may apply to the court to have the order indexed in accordance with subsection 34(4).

(3) The court shall, unless the respondent shows that his or her income, assets and means have not increased sufficiently to permit the increase, order that the amount payable be increased by the indexing factor, as defined in subsection 34(5), on the anniversary date of the order under this section. 1995,c.12,s.38; 1997c,16,s.7 {eff.} Nov. 27/97. Power of court

38.1 (1) Where a court is considering an application for the support of a child and an application for the support of a spouse or a common-law partner, the court shall give priority to the support of the child in determining the applications. Priority to child support

(2) Where as a result of giving priority to the support of a child, the court is unable to make an order for the support of a spouse or common-law partner, or the court makes an order for the support of a spouse or a common-law partner in an amount less than it otherwise would have, the court shall record its reasons for doing so. Reasons

(3) Where as a result of giving priority to the support of a child, an order for the support of a spouse or common-law partner is not made or the amount of the order for the support of a spouse or common-law partner is less than it otherwise would have been, any material reduction or termination of the support for the child constitutes a material change of circumstances for the purposes of an application for the support of the spouse or common-law partner or for variation of an order for the support of the spouse or common-law partner. Consequences of reduction or termination of child support

(4) Subsection 49(1) does not apply to an action or application for the support of a spouse or common-law partner in the circumstances set out in subsection (3). 1997,c16,s.8 {eff.} Nov. 27/97; 2002,c.7,s.2,5. Non-application of limitation

39. (1) Sections 36 to 38 also apply to orders for maintenance or alimony made before December 31, 1978, or in proceedings commenced before that date, and to orders for support made under Part II of the Family Law Reform Act. Existing orders

(2) Where an application is made under section 37 to vary an order that provides a single amount of money for the combined support of one or more children and a spouse or common-law partner, the court shall rescind the order and treat the application as an application for an order for the support of a child and an application for an order for the support of a spouse or common-law partner. Combined support orders

(3) Where an application for the support of a child, including an application under section 37 to vary an order for the support of a child, is Existing proceedings made before the day this subsection comes into force and the court has not considered any evidence in the application, other than in respect of an interim order, before that day, the proceeding shall be deemed to be an application under this Act as amended, subject to such directions as the court considers appropriate. 1995,c.12,s.39; 1997,c.16,s.9 {eff.} Nov. 27/97; 2002,c.7,s.2.
