Planning for Your Sport's Future

Planning must have the support and involvement of the leaders of the organization. The quality of the planning process is only as good as input from the membership. Consequently, copies of the Planning Workbook should be distributed to board members, committee chairs, coaches, officials and/or athletes to ensure that the responses are representative of individuals within each program area and that the responses thoroughly and accurately reflect your organization.

Completing the Workbook

First, circle your response to each of the statements in the rating column. Responses must be realistic and accurate to be beneficial for your organization.

The response options (N/A to 5) are based on the premise that an answer of "2 = satisfactory" means that the program or service is functioning at a minimally acceptable level as determined by your PSO.

Responses of "2" or less to a particular area should be reviewed by your organization to determine if action should be taken to improve the area.

Second, complete the Assessment Sheet based on your responses to the statements. This will give you an overall rating for each of the areas.

Developing Your Plan

The idea of a two-year plan is to list all activities/projects which are being planned for the next two years, determine what tasks will be required to complete these activities/projects and then assign someone responsibility for completing all tasks. Many of these activities/projects have been a regular part of your organization's operations. Other activities/projects may have been identified from the workbook exercise. By developing a plan, every member of your organization will know what has been planned, who is responsible and when it needs to be done. A regular review of this plan will keep your organization focussed and determine if changes need to be made.

Note: Organizations should review the total plan and prioritize objectives from all the plan outline sheets.

Tips for Developing Your Plan

- Keep it realistic.
- Breakdown activities into manageable tasks.
- When assigning responsibilities, do not overload one individual or group within the organization.
- Spread the time lines over the full period of the plan; avoid the tendency to plan everything for the first year.
- When calculating required resources, include both financial costs and volunteer time required.
- Prepare the operational plan with those affected by its implementation.
- Check the realism of the plan: Can the activity actually be accomplished as the plan describes?

What Happens After Completing the Workbook

Year 1: April 1, 2006 – March 31, 2007

- a) Submit completed workbook (rating, assessment, and plan outline) to the Provincial Amateur Sport Coordinator (Sport and Recreation Division of the Department of Community and Cultural Affairs) for review.
- b) The Provincial Amateur Sport Coordinator will review the workbook contents and return it to your organization for your use during the year.

Year 2: April 1, 2007 – March 31, 2008

At the beginning of the fiscal year, the plan outline(s) must be re-submitted with application for funding. The plan outline(s) must indicate which tasks during Year 1 were or were not completed and the reason(s) why they were incomplete, e.g., financial, human resource, etc.

Year 3: April 1, 2008

- a) At the beginning of the fiscal year, the plan outline(s) must be re-submitted with application for funding. The plan outline(s) must indicate which tasks during Year 2 were or were not completed and the reason(s) why they were incomplete, e.g., financial, human resource, etc.
- b) The workbook must be completed for the next two-year cycle and be submitted with the application for funding.
