PROCEDURE

Part 1

Introduction

1. Discuss the maps in this lesson that show the early Alberta settlement patterns.
2. Look at the ecoregion map supplied.
3. Look at the pictures provided of early towns in Alberta. Discuss some of the common features. What can the children see?
 - a) dirt streets
 - b) small buildings
 - c) some typical businesses.
4. If the class has done Activity 3, have them keep the same groups for this lesson. If they have not done Activity 3, divide the class into groups of 4 to 6.

Part 2

Orientation

5. Teachers may want to help the groups decide where they would be arriving based on the settlement map and the time each group/family chooses to emigrate.
6. Groups should then make a note of the general ecoregion they have chosen so that they can better describe their farm.
7. Have each group do the "Where Am I?" worksheet.

Part 3

Selecting

8. Have students imagine that they will now find their homestead. Discuss the procedure of obtaining land in Alberta. They have to find the land they want, then file at the Land Office for title, pay $10.00 and agree to live on the land 6 months of the year and make improvements such as fencing and cultivation.
9. Have each group do "The Homestead" worksheet.

Part 5

Conclusion

10. Share the information on the worksheets with the class.
11. Prepare a large map of Alberta and show where the class pioneer families have settled.

FOR DISCUSSION

1. How do you suppose shopping for a homestead in 1900 compares with shopping for a home in the 1990s?
2. What would be some of the most important features settlers would be looking for in their new homesteads?
3. Do you think you would have liked to be the children of a pioneer family?

RELATED ACTIVITY

1. Plan a typical pioneer social function for your pioneer families such as a box social or community dance.

Dawn Called

*Dawn called! And out across the plain
I heard the prairies move again;
I smelled the sage when dawn uncurled
Her leaves, for incense to the world;
I heard a meadow-lark get up
And pour its song in day's new cup.*

*I saw the horses, dim and still
Against the shadow of a hill,
Stand up and shake the sleep away,
And snort their challenge to the day;
The roosters called across the plain
Their thanks that light had come again.*

*I saw Dawn walk with gracious feet,
Upon the billows of the wheat;
I touched her garments as she passed
Into a farmer's house at last,
And laughed to hear him softly stir
Against the lily hands of her.*

*I saw blue smoke upon the air,
I heard a woman singing there,
Close by the door and saw her stand
And breathe the fragrance of the land;
And heard her laughter, clear and sweet,
Echoing out across the wheat.*

*Dawn called! The prairies answered her;
I saw the grasses wake and stir;
I heard the breathing of the air;
Felt Life abundant everywhere;
Saw the glad Earth, where shadows run
Drawing her substance from the sun.*
