

5.11 U.S.-Origin Animals Returning from a Recognized Exposition in Canada to the U.S.

Export to the U.S.

General Requirements

1. All animals (including poultry) from the U.S. which have been exhibited at a publicly recognized exposition in Canada are eligible to return to the U.S. without Canadian health or test certification provided that:
 - a. the animals have not been in Canada more than 90 days from the date of their entry from the U.S.;
 - b. the animals are accompanied by copies of the U.S. health certificate which permitted their entry into Canada;
 - c. the animals offered for re-entry are, upon examination by the veterinary inspector at the U.S. port of entry, found to be free of communicable diseases and exposure thereto;
 - d. the animals are determined to be the identical animals covered by said certificates, or are the natural increase of such animals born after official test dates certified on the dam's health certificate; and
 - e. the animals meet any specific conditions for that species.
2. This provision does not apply to animals that have entered Canada for any purpose other than exhibition.
3. A list of the recognized exhibitions can be obtained from the CFIA district office.
