Need a Summer Job?

Do you need help looking for a job, writing your résumé, preparing for an interview, or planning your career? For more than 35 years, Service Canada Centres for Youth (formerly called Human Resource Centres of Canada for Students – HRCC-S) have been helping students like you find the summer work you need to earn money to return to school. Drop by your local Service Canada Centre for Youth to get free access to the services of summer employment officers who can help.

Invest in your future. Start your search with us!

We have lots of detailed job postings, ranging from casual labour to career-related opportunities. We've also developed a number of services specially designed to help you with your job search. Since employers come to their local Service Canada Centre for Youth looking for summer help, many jobs are available that require the skills, talents, knowledge and energy of young people like you.

If you're looking for handy information on job searching, self-assessment, résumé writing, applying for jobs and the interview process, then Looking for a Job is the publication you need! It is easy to use and understand, and is targeted at the first-time job seeker. Visit youth.gc.ca or order a printed copy through the Youth Info Line at 1 800 935-5555.

In 2005, 489,000 young Canadians received job search assistance and/or found employment, thanks to the more than 850 summer employment officers working in over 320 Service Canada Centres for Youth.

Our services:

- Comprehensive job postings (including information on wages and hours)
- Career planning sessions
- Assistance in developing résumés and cover letters
- Help with job interview techniques
- Information on high-growth job sectors, wage rates, employment standards, labour laws, and health and safety in the workplace
- Information on other Government of Canada and provincial/territorial employment initiatives
