

THE PROFESSION OF ARMS IN CANADA

DUTY WITH HONOUR

A "MUST-READ" FOR ALL CIVILIAN AND MILITARY MEMBERS OF THE DEFENCE TEAM

In an increasingly complex world, CF members will continue to face new challenges that demand the highest standard of professionalism. But what does this really mean?

Duty with Honour takes an in-depth look at the nature and practice of the profession of arms in Canada—the first time that Canadian military professionalism has been fully defined in writing.

Now a key element in the CF professional development system, Duty with Honour examines the unique and distinct identity of CF members within society and provides a clear vision of what it means to be a Canadian military professional.

- The definitive reference on the philosophy and practise of the Canadian military professional
- Explores the CF ethos that binds all military professionals together
- Examines the values, skills, role, and responsibilities of those whose primary duty is service to Canada

"...a rare glimpse into the value system that guides their Forces and has earned them and our nation respect and admiration throughout the world."

— Her Excellency the Right Honourable Adrienne Clarkson, Governor General of Canada and Commander-in-Chief,
Canadian Forces

Available on-line at: www.cda-acd.forces.gc.ca

and via the CF Intranet at: <http://cda-acd.mil.ca>

Send your request for a (free) printed copy to:

pofa-cfli@forces.gc.ca (Internet) or +pofa-cfli@cda-acd@kingston (Intranet)