

Conflict Management for Libraries: Strategies for a Positive, Productive Workplace

Jack G. Montgomery and Eleanor I. Cook

While projecting a calm and peacefulness, libraries are not immune to workplace stress and conflict. In a research survey conducted over three years, the authors asked, "What are the common causes of workplace conflict in libraries?"

I Found It on the Internet: Coming of Age Online

Frances Jacobson Harris

Multitasking teens can talk on their cell phones while instant messaging, then toggle between discussion board, blog, and e-mail account, possibly collaborate on a project, or more likely "chat" with friends. If technology is ever-present for this "wireless" generation, what is the best way to share lessons about online content, behavior, and ethics with these digital natives?

Maxwell's Handbook for AACR2: Explaining and Illustrating the Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules

Robert L. Maxwell

Designed to interpret and explain AACR2, Maxwell illustrates and applies the latest cataloging rules to the MARC record for every type of information format. Focusing on the concept of integrating resources, where relevant information may be available in different formats, the revised edition also addresses the Program for Cooperative Cataloging (PCC) and the cataloging needs of electronic books and digital reproductions of physical items such as books and maps.

Readers' Advisory Service in the Public Library

Third Edition

Joyce G. Saricks

In public libraries, reference librarians are often called on to make recommendations to readers, sometimes in genres that they don't personally read. Learning how to frame a discussion and articulate the appeal of a book, author, or genre marks the essence of a successful readers' advisor.
