

BRITISH COLUMBIA FARM INDUSTRY REVIEW BOARD

POSITION DESCRIPTION

Position Title

Member

Location

The administrative office of the British Columbia Farm Industry Review Board (BCFIRB) is located in Victoria, British Columbia. BCFIRB members may reside anywhere in the Province. BCFIRB business may be conducted throughout the Province; most usually taking place on the Lower Mainland, on Vancouver Island and in the Okanagan.

BCFIRB Purpose and Mandates

BCFIRB is a specialized, independent administrative tribunal created, originally as the British Columbia Marketing Board, in 1935 under the Natural Products Marketing (BC) Act to operate as a general supervisory and policy making body with jurisdiction over marketing boards and commissions (commodity boards) in the Province. In addition, BCFIRB hears appeals from persons aggrieved or dissatisfied by orders, decisions or determinations of the commodity boards and is a signatory to federal-provincial agreements concerning supply managed commodities.

BCFIRB has overall responsibility for the marketing of regulated agricultural products in the Province. Through its various activities and its decision-making, BCFIRB encourages creativity in the existing regulatory environment, facilitating new markets, innovation and new participants in the industry. BCFIRB is a dynamic partner with industry and the Ministry of Agriculture and Lands in achieving Service Plan goals of: committing to leading-edge, sustainable environmental practices in agriculture and aquaculture; strengthening the competitiveness and profitability of the food, agriculture and aquaculture sectors; and ensuring that food production systems deliver healthy food and contribute to public safety.

Commencing in 1996, as the Farm Practices Board, BCFIRB under the Farm Practices Protection (Right to Farm) Act, also adjudicates “normal farm practice” disputes between agricultural and aquacultural farm operators and their neighbours, and may also report generally on matters related to farm practices.

Under the Agricultural Produce Grading Act, BCFIRB may hear appeals from persons who have had their grading licences refused, not renewed, revoked or suspended.

BCFIRB has a complement of up to 10 part-time members appointed by Order in Council and remunerated in accordance with Treasury Board guidelines applicable to BCFIRB.

BCFIRB presently has seven staff positions and a current operating budget of approximately $1,100,000.

The impact of BCFIRB's decisions may be considerable and may involve substantial economic implications or changes in practice. BCFIRB also receives approximately 25 regulated marketing appeals and farm practices complaints per year. BCFIRB's supervisory and appeal decisions are subject to judicial review and its complaint decisions may be appealed to the Supreme Court on a question of law or jurisdiction.

Nature and Scope of the Position

BCFIRB, while maintaining its statutory decision-making independence, is accountable to the Minister of Agriculture and Lands (Minister) for ensuring that BCFIRB effectively manages the regulated marketing system and providing timely and appropriate resolution of regulated marketing and farm practices disputes.

Members of BCFIRB should not have interests which create a conflict with the performance of their statutory duties. BCFIRB members are expected to assume full responsibility for the effective and efficient discharge of their duties under the Acts they administer in the broader public interest and are to maintain the highest possible standards of conduct and governance. They must comply with the rules of natural justice and the principles of administrative law and must have balanced judgement, and the ability to make fair, consistent and timely decisions.

Members are accountable to the chair for the timely and appropriate resolution of issues assigned to them. Issues or proceedings may be dealt with by a member alone or by sitting as part of a panel and members are expected to consider alternative dispute resolution techniques wherever possible. Persons appearing before BCFIRB must be treated fairly, courteously and with respect at all times.

Members are encouraged to undertake professional development opportunities and are expected to assist in the orientation and training of new members. Members may also be asked to participate in promoting public education about BCFIRB's responsibilities and processes, assisting the chair, if requested, by meeting with governments, industry and the general public and speaking to issues raised.

Program Linkages

Members are responsible for carrying out work assigned by the chair or BCFIRB. Members will have ongoing contacts and relationships with other BCFIRB members, BCFIRB staff, BCFIRB contractors, Ministry of Agriculture and Lands officials, other provincial and local government officials, the industry generally and the commodity boards specifically, individuals and organizations that appear before BCFIRB, and with members of the public.

Accountabilities

BCFIRB members are accountable to the chair for assisting in the effective management and operation of BCFIRB and must support the chair, on behalf of BCFIRB, in:

- entering into a memorandum of agreement with the Minister;
- informing the Minister about the policies, practices and procedures adopted by BCFIRB in the performance of its mandates;
- ensuring that an annual budget is prepared and that procedures are implemented to achieve fiscal objectives;
- meeting with or providing special reports to the Minister and/or the Ministry regarding issues of mutual concern; and
- preparing an annual report to the Minister on the work and activities of BCFIRB.

Duties and Responsibilities

In fulfilling their obligations to BCFIRB, members will:
