

Regina v. Robert William Pickton
(Commonly referred to as the Pickton Trial)

UNDERTAKING
For Professional Journalists accredited for the Pickton Trial.

I, _____, a professional journalist employed by _____, confirm that I have reviewed the policy of the Supreme Court of British Columbia as set out below, namely that:

1. the Supreme Court of British Columbia's policy excluding recording devices remains in place, except that accredited journalists may be permitted to bring recording devices into the courtroom to record the Pickton Trial, so long as such practice:
 - a) is not disruptive to the proceedings;
 - b) does not impose additional expense upon the court; and
 - c) is for the verification of journalists' notes only. Any such recordings shall not be broadcast, copied or used in any other way.
2. For the purposes of this undertaking, the Pickton Trial includes pre-trial proceedings.
3. The court prohibits the transmission or recording of live feeds, except as set out in paragraph 1.
4. It remains within the discretion of the trial judge to exclude recording devices for any particular portion of the Pickton Trial.
5. This undertaking for the Pickton Trial permits the use of recording devices by accredited journalists in Courtroom 102, the Courtroom 101 overflow room and the Media Workroom only. It does not apply to other areas of the New Westminster Supreme Court building.
6. The Media Workroom (737 Carnarvon Street, 3rd Floor) and the Courtroom 101 overflow room are considered extensions of the courtroom.
7. The use of telecommunication devices is prohibited in the Media Workroom and the Courtroom 101 overflow room while court is in session.
8. Personalized Pickton Trial media accreditation cards must be presented to the sheriffs upon entry at the search entrance to the court and worn at all times within the Courtroom 102 envelope, the Courtroom 101 overflow room and the Media Workroom.

I understand that failure to abide by the conditions set out above will constitute a breach of this undertaking, subject to legal sanction, including the automatic revocation of credentials of everyone affiliated with my media outlet.

I hereby undertake to abide by the restrictions set out above.
