Creating Your Own Environmental Farm Plan in South Coastal BC

This publication is intended to provide farmers with a means of evaluating the farm for any potential pollution and to provide options for dealing with pollution risks. This booklet covers the same issues that are dealt with in a Best Agricultural Waste Management Plan and focuses on the problems encountered under south coastal BC weather and urbanization conditions. It also provides the means to do the necessary calculations for making decisions about increasing storage and changing handling practices. To obtain a copy, please contact.
