Recommended Code of Practice for the Care and Handling of Poultry from Hatchery to Processing Plant

This code is an updated version of the 1983 publication of the care and handling of chickens, and has been expanded to include recommendations for the care and handling of turkeys. Each section pertaining to a particular type of poultry (eggs, broilers and roasters and turkeys) is to be considered as a self-contained entity, to be used by the industry in question. For this voluntary code to be fully effective those involved in the care and handling of poultry should accept and adopt the code's recommendations. To obtain a copy, please contact:
