Report Approval

APPLICATIONS

From June 21 to June 26, 2002, advertisements for the position of Chief Electoral Officer were placed in all major daily newspapers in British Columbia and in one newspaper with national circulation. Prospective applicants were asked to apply by July 19, 2002. In response, the Committee received 59 applications for the position of Chief Electoral Officer. Of the applications, 56 were received from British Columbia, two from other Canadian provinces and one from outside of Canada. All 59 applications were reviewed and assessed by each member of the Committee. Based on members' individual appraisals of the applications, the Committee interviewed five candidates.

SELECTION CRITERIA

The position of Chief Electoral Officer calls for an understanding of electoral and political processes; administrative, decision-making and communications skills; and experience in managing a medium- to large-size organization. Some of the specific criteria used by the Committee to assess applicants included:

- commitment to the principles of fairness, openness and impartiality in electoral administration.
- understanding of election law and electoral processes.
- understanding of the political process, including the functions of political parties, news media and other agencies.
- ability to interpret and comply with legislation.
- ability to maintain appropriate relations with the news media, political parties and groups sponsoring initiative and recall petitions.
- ability to communicate the substance of and rationale behind administrative and adjudicative decisions taken pursuant to the Election Act and the Recall and Initiative Act.
- ability to establish and maintain an organizational profile of independence and impartiality.

The Committee's selection criteria formed the basis of a Position Profile, Candidate Profile and Screening Matrix, which were used to assess each application for the position and each interviewed candidate. To ensure consistency and fairness, each interviewed candidate was asked a standard set of 16 interview questions, which was also developed from the Committee's selection criteria.
