Letter of Transmittal

September 12, 2002

The Honourable Chris Axworthy
Minister of Justice and Attorney General
Room 335, Legislative Building
Regina, Saskatchewan

Dear Sir:

I have the honour to submit for your consideration the Annual Report of the Farm Land Security Board for the year ending March 31, 2002.

The Saskatchewan Farm Security Act establishes the Farm Land Security Board providing it a mandate in the areas of farm foreclosures, home quarter protection and farm ownership. During periods of economic instability in the farm sector, the Act plays a critical role in supporting farm families.

In the 2001-2002 fiscal year, Notices of Intent to Foreclose served upon farmers remained at a significant level but declined slightly from the previous fiscal year. Weak net farm incomes in the grain and oilseeds sector as a result of both market and weather circumstances are creating financial pressures for many producers.

Activity in the Home Quarter Protection area is being maintained at somewhat reduced levels. Farm lending involving Home Quarters is being affected by the poor income environment.

Heightened public debate over Farm Ownership protection and the possibility of legislative amendments has made the administration of this program an interesting challenge. The Board has attempted to be a resource of information without entering the debate in inappropriate ways. The lack of understanding about the purpose of the existing legislation and the flexibility with which it is managed does not positively contribute to the public discourse. The steady flow of new residents from other provinces and countries is seen by the Board as an antidote to the decline of rural communities. The existing legislated mechanisms and discretionary approaches applied by the Board encourage new residents as opposed to acquisition by absentee investors.

I trust this annual report will provide useful insights into the varied activities of the Board over the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

Leslie Belloc-Pinder
Chair

Program Rationale, Governing Legislation and Organizational Structure

Mission Statement

It is the mission of the Farm Land Security Board to effectively deliver Saskatchewan Justice Farm Security Programs in a manner responsive to the needs of the broad rural community. These programs have been instituted to support family farms during periods of financial difficulty and stabilize the economic and social environment in rural Saskatchewan.

Governing Legislation

Saskatchewan Justice Farm Security Programs are governed by The Saskatchewan Farm Security Act and its regulations. The Farm Land Security Board is established by the Act.

The Farm Land Security Board is mandated under Part II of the Act to oversee the process which occurs prior to a foreclosure action proceeding on farm land. The process is supportive. The farm family in financial difficulty is provided the benefits of independent financial analysis and mediation.

Part III, Home Quarter Protection, of the Act allows the Board to exclude a mortgage from Home Quarter Protection when it is "in the best interests" of the farmer. The Board, in doing so, does not take a narrow view of these interests but consults with the borrower and the lender on all aspects of the farm business.

Objectives of Part VI, Farm Ownership, are to deliver the mandate of preserving Saskatchewan farm land for ownership and operation by Saskatchewan residents while remaining open and sensitive to the broader needs and opportunities of our province. This is accomplished by its daily contact with Saskatchewan agricultural producers, agricultural and non-agricultural corporations and non-residents.

Program Rationale, Governing Legislation and Organizational Structure

Members of the Farm Land Security Board in the 2001-2002 fiscal year were:

Leslie Belloc-Pinder, Chair
Bill Turner, Vice-Chair
Ferne Nielsen
Vic Bruce
Larry Kopan

The Board employs managerial and support staff in Regina as well as contractual Field Consultants located around the province.

Dan Patterson - General Manager
Dick Wellman - Manager Home Quarter Protection and Farm Foreclosure
Jim Chernick - Manager, Farm Ownership

Part II Farm Foreclosures

Mandate:

Part II of The Saskatchewan Farm Security Act has the stated purpose “to afford protection to farmers against loss of their farm land.” Before proceeding to court, the Act requires all lenders or writ holders to first provide notice to the farmer and to the Farm Land Security Board respecting their intention to foreclose. The Act provides a review and mediation mechanism to assist the parties’ efforts to find a settlement. If mediation is not successful, the Act requires the Board prepare a report for the court which provides an opinion on questions stated in the Act, and any other matter the Board feels is relevant. The statutory period allowed for the above is 150 days.

The program helps farmers facing foreclosure by clarifying their financial situation and assisting them in understanding their legal rights and obligations. These activities help establish achievable expectations and objectives for farmers as they enter the mediation process.

The program was also designed to assist the court in its determination of whether allowing foreclosure to proceed would be “just and equitable.” The Board’s report to the court provides insight into the personal and financial circumstances of the farm family. As well, because some aspects of Home Quarter Protection legislation are linked to the Board’s opinion in the report, important legal support for farm families hinges on the report’s conclusions. The Act directs the court to give the report primary consideration.

Resources:

$388,900 is attached to the delivery of Parts II and III under the Act, exclusive of general administration overhead and Board meetings. 2.0 full-time equivalent employees and 30 contract field consultants work in these programs. In June of 1998 the Farm Land Security Board and the Federal Farm Debt Mediation and Consultation Services arranged to cross-contract their field consultants. This reduced program duplication and improved continuity of service for farmers involved in both programs.

Objectives:

The primary objective of the program is to assist farmers facing foreclosure to understand and resolve their financial problems thereby keeping farmers on the land and in rural communities.

Activities:

Field Analysis and Mediation Preparation

Following receipt of a Notice of Intention to Foreclose, the Board assigns the matter to a field consultant. It is the field consultant’s responsibility to meet with the farm family to adequately prepare them for the mediation opportunity. This preparation includes a review and analysis of the farm family’s financial situation. Discussions about their personal and financial situation and their legal rights and obligations occur. Through these discussions the field consultant helps the family establish goals for the mediation process and beyond. A financial report is produced and provided to the farmer, the mediator and the creditor. The consultant will accompany the farmer to the mediation meeting acting as a resource and a support for the family.

Program Objectives, Activities and Impacts

When the review and mediation activities do not find a suitable solution, the creditor may ask for the Board's report to the court. Upon receiving such a request, the Board prepares a report in accordance with the Act. It may meet with the parties involved.

Impacts:

Since the program inception in 1985 the Board has dealt with 9,578 farms threatened by intended foreclosure. Intervention by the Board has avoided the court process in approximately 75% of these situations. Although repayment arrangements are not always achievable, leaseback and exit arrangements benefit some farm families. As well families have benefited from a supportive process. Further detail on the success of mediation can be obtained from the Mediation Services Annual Report.

Court Reports

The Board's report to the Court provides comprehensive information to the Court, the farmer and the lender when the lender decides to proceed with a court application to foreclose. Although the Board cannot always support a farmer's possibility of meeting his payments, it is usually evident that sincere and reasonable efforts have been made with the resources available.

Statistical Profile of Farms Receiving Notice of Intent to Foreclose:

Since program inception the Farm Land Security Board has kept a statistical profile of the farmers receiving Notices of Intent to Foreclose. During the 2001/2002 fiscal year, the following profiles were recorded. 2000/2001 profiles are in brackets.

Foreclosure Debt

Amount	% of Notices
< $ 20,000	6% (11%)
$ 20,000 - $ 50,000	22% (27%)
$ 50,000 - $100,000	27% (30%)
$100,000 - $200,000	25% (22%)
> $200,000	20% (10%)

Operator Age Range

Age	% of Notices	Enterprise Type
20 - 30	2% (2%)	Mixed 33% (35%)
30 - 40	11% (16%)	Grain 56% (52%)
40 - 50	44% (35%)	Beef 4% (4%)
50 - 60	30% (27%)	Other 7% (9%)
60 +	13% (20%)

Farm Organization

Sole Proprietorship	83% (89%)
Partnership	9% (6%)
Corporation	8% (5%)

Farm Dependents	3.5 (3.2)
Home Quarter	43% (41%)
Involvement in Foreclosure Notices

Average Asset Level	$660,000	($504,000)
Average Debt Level	$330,000	($282,000)
Average Net Worth	$330,000	($222,000)

Observations:

As an indication of the amount of financial difficulty present in the farm economy, Notices of Intent to Foreclose do not present the entire picture. Other debt resolution is also undertaken by the federal Farm Debt Mediation Service, Bankruptcy Trustees and by lenders directly with their clients. Federal Farm Debt Mediation legislation has replaced the Farm Debt Review Board and provided a companion program called the Farm Consultation Service to assist farmers meeting financial challenges. A cooperative initiative was completed to amalgamate the federal and provincial field consultant groups to improve continuity between all programs. In the 2001/2002 fiscal year, federal activity in the new programs was high (FDMS applications 131, Farm Consultation applications 402).

A notable trend appears across the above data in this fiscal year. An increase in Notices of Intent to Foreclose were received by farmers of a larger operational profile and of an age range more typical of the median age of Saskatchewan farmers. The average asset level increased from $504,000 to $660,000; amount of debt subject to the notice increased from 10% in the greater than $200,000 range to 20%; and the operator age range showed an increase in the 40-50 category from 35% to 44% of total notices.

Larger farms are now facing increased financial challenges as economic pressures in the farm community continue.

Program Objectives, Activities and Impacts

Part III - Home Quarter Protection

Mandate:

Home Quarter Protection has been a cornerstone of Saskatchewan farm protection legislation since the early 1940s. The protection stays the registration of a Final Order for Foreclosure as long as the farmer continues to live on the homestead. A farmer and a lender may co-apply to the Farm Land Security Board to have a mortgage excluded from this protection. The Board is empowered to exclude the mortgage from protection, when in the opinion of the Board, it would benefit the farmer. The program helps prevent farmers from unnecessarily attaching debt to their home quarter.

Resources:

Part II and III office and human resources are shared. (See Part II for more detail.)

Objectives:

The mandate of this Part is achieved by clarifying with farmers their security options and examining their ability to service the mortgage obligations. Before the Board will order a mortgage excluded from the protection, it must be convinced the farmer can repay the loan, and that other suitable security is not available. Additionally, it must be convinced that any aspect of a loan which appears uncharacteristic of typical lending practices has been fully discussed with the parties.

Activities:

Co-applications are reviewed by Board staff. Staff typically contact the farmer and the creditor as part of their review and may request additional information concerning the farm financial situation. Staff will analyse the farm budget and security options to establish that the loan is affordable and that more suitable security arrangements are not possible. In the most difficult situations the co-application is assigned to a field consultant. The consultant will meet with the farmer and the creditor to prepare a report for the Board.

* Activity in the Home Quarter Protection area was affected by the legislative amendments respecting mortgages made solely for the purpose of home quarter purchase or improvement. The amendments removed such mortgages from the protection beginning in September 1992. This is reflected in the reduced number of applications received that fiscal year and in following years.

 A Class Exclusion involving non-farm rural residences was issued in December of 1998. This is reflected in the reduced number of applications received that fiscal year and in following years.

 A Class Exclusion involving solely farmland purchases was issued in October of 1999. This is reflected in the reduced number of applications received that fiscal year and in following years.

Program Objectives, Activities and Impacts

PART III DISPOSITION OF APPLICATIONS TO WAIVE HOME QUARTER PROTECTION
Fiscal Year	Order Issued	Special Order Issued	Order Denied	Return/ Withdraw	Total
1992-1993	1,012	81	16	83	1,192

2000-2001	131	304	2	37	474
2001-2002	37	392	0	42	471

Impacts:

About two thirds of the applications are issued "Special Orders" where the exclusion order identifies and attaches explicit conditions. The condition may be for the creditor to release a home site from the mortgage if the loan fails, or to release the home quarter once the principal is reduced to a specified amount. Special orders also allow the Board to deal with mortgages which are not sum certain or loan specific. The special order avoids replacing or amending the mortgage.

The increasing use of "special orders" reflects the growing use of "All Purpose Collateral Mortgages" by lenders. This type of mortgage encompasses all existing or future debt with the institution including operating or credit card debt. The Board often finds farm families unaware of the extensive nature of these mortgage provisions.

A decision to refuse to exclude a mortgage from the protection only occurs after clear evidence that either the loan is not affordable or that other satisfactory security options are available.

Rather than deny an application the Board will work with the parties to find acceptable alternatives. The number of special orders issued is evidence of the success of these efforts. Only 1% of applications are denied.

In today's environment of high farm debt and low operating margins the Board's activities have helped ensure that the debt obligations are serviceable when the homestead is involved. Its activities have also ensured more "farmer friendly" options for securing the debt have been implemented where possible. These activities have increased farmer knowledge of risk management, and have convinced creditors that home quarter security should be a last resort. This will contribute to the stability of rural communities in the future.

Program Objectives, Activities and Impacts

Observations:

The number of co-applications to waive Home Quarter Protection in the 2001/2002 fiscal year remained steady with the previous year. This is reflective of a less active lending environment.

The majority of Exclusion Orders were issued for loans consolidating existing debt.

Program Objectives, Activities and Impacts

Part VI - Farm Ownership

Mandate:

This legislation is designed to ensure that non-resident or corporate control of Saskatchewan farm land does not negatively affect the interests of resident producers or the economic and social development of the province.

Resources:

$96 ,000 was expended on the delivery of Part VI activities under the Act, exclusive of general administrative overhead and Board meetings. 1.8 full-time equivalent employees and one contract field consultant work in this program.

Objectives:

The Board seeks to preserve ownership and operation of Saskatchewan farm land by residents through ensuring compliance with farm ownership legislation. The Board also maintains an internal objective to remain current in the area of agriculture and land related issues. This contributes positively to its decisions regarding land ownership.

Activities:

Responsibilities of the Board include the granting or denial of applications for exemption or extension, issuing Orders for Divestment, recommending Court action for violation of the Act's provisions, and generally advising the government on farm ownership issues. Where individuals or corporations acquire or plan to acquire holdings which exceed that allowed by statute, the Board considers the interests of all affected parties in making its determinations. Staff assigned to this aspect of the program monitor all changes of title respecting agricultural land in the province. As well, corporate documents of land holding companies are reviewed to assess any changes in share structure that would result in non-resident individuals or non-agricultural corporations having an interest in farm land.

A. Activity Summary : (Past Year in Brackets)

In the 2001/2002 fiscal year, staff and consultants were required to review and document 1456 (1,469) transfers of land to non-resident individuals, 3,815 (3,865) transfers to corporate interests and 474 (532) to Crown Agencies. Staff also investigated and processed applications for exemption and applications for extension in order to achieve compliance with the legislation. An application may result in the granting of more than one exemption. In addition, staff responded to personal or written inquiries.

B. Activity Detail:

The Board monitored all changes of interest in rural land processed through eight Land Titles Offices in the province. 24,392 transfers totalling 3,828,640 acres were monitored. The total number of transfers in the previous year was 23,925; total acreage involved was 3,824,194 acres.

1,456 land transfers to non-resident individuals resulted in 622 reviews of non-resident individuals who had not previously held an interest in land in Saskatchewan. 3,815 transfers to corporate /lending/other interests resulted in 388 reviews of new corporate land holders.

Program Objectives, Activities and Impacts

The following table illustrates the number of transfers to various categories of individuals and corporate entities. As illustrated, the majority of transfers involving Saskatchewan farm land are to residents of the province.

2001/2002 TRANSFER STATISTICS

* Computerization of the Land Titles System has created anomalies in the reporting of transfer statistics. Transfer units are different in the new system because consolidated and joint titles are split.

Program Objectives, Activities and Impacts

D. Non-Resident and Corporate Acquisitions

In this fiscal year, non-Saskatchewan residents acquired title to 244,154 acres. Over two-thirds of this total was acquired through the legislated provisions for acquisitions by relatives from Saskatchewan residents or through the 320 acres allowed Canadian residents. The balance was acquired with facilitating exemptions from the Farm Land Security Board. In this fiscal year, corporations acquired an interest in 630,443 acres. The majority of the land was acquired by Saskatchewan producer -owned corporations engaged in the business of farming.

2001-2002	1,456	244,154	3,815	630,443

* Includes land transferred to financial institutions and land acquired through the Treaty Land Entitlement process.

The Board has the authority to consider applications for exemption which, if approved, allow non-eligible individuals or non-agricultural corporations to have or acquire a land holding in excess of that allowed under the farm ownership provisions of The Saskatchewan Farm Security Act. Denials were primarily based on the Board's conclusion that the intended acquisition would be contrary to the longer term interests of Saskatchewan people. The following table summarizes the Board's activity in applications for exemption.

Despite a relatively small number of Exemptions issued to non-residents who are intending to reside in the province, it is evident from discussions with Rural Municipalities and real estate agents that the influx of new farmers, particularly from Alberta, is growing at an accelerating pace. These new residents do not appear in the statistics because they are acquiring land as residents and do not require exemptions from the Farm Land Security Board. It is difficult to quantify this number but real estate agents estimate that at least three new farm families are arriving in Saskatchewan for every situation where the Board is approached for an exemption.

Program Objectives, Activities and Impacts

There are several general categories of requests for exemption the Board receives.

Purchaser Intending to Reside The Board regularly considers exemption requests by non-residents who plan to move to Saskatchewan and are acquiring land in advance of their residency.

Border Farm In many cases a farm operation straddles the Saskatchewan border and the farmer resides within a reasonable distance of the border to be considered part of a Saskatchewan community. Exemptions facilitate this reality of land holding patterns in border areas which the Act otherwise would restrict.

Intensive Livestock Many intensive livestock enterprises are organized as limited partnerships or corporations that for the purposes of the Act require an exemption to hold more than 10 acres.

Commercial Development Many commercial undertakings require farm land to develop industrial plants, grain terminals and mining operations.

Investment - family and non-family support In some cases residents have obtained assistance from non-residents to re-acquire their farms from financial institutions or have accessed capital to start a new farm venture.

Investment - farming In these cases non-resident people actively farming their own land reside in communities outside of Saskatchewan. Several exemptions involve residents of Medicine Hat, Alberta who farm in western Saskatchewan

Inheritance/Estate Planning To facilitate estate planning involving transfers of farm land to non-resident beneficiaries exemption requests are considered. Exemptions granted for this purpose generally corresponded with the five year period allowed for divestment in the Act.

Wildlife/Conservation Most organizations acquiring land for wildlife and conservation purposes must apply for exemption. Issues involving the acquisition of farm land to be idled by conservation organizations, most notably Ducks Unlimited Canada, continued to challenge the Board in balancing agricultural and wildlife interests.

Interpretation by Policy Several common situations encountered by the Board would not require exemptions except for their legal structure. These include corporations that would otherwise qualify as Agricultural Corporations but for the insertion of a holding company. Another category is small corporations owned by Canadian residents that require an exemption, these corporations are limited to a land holding of ten acres. Had the acquisition been completed as an individual 320 acres could be acquired without an exemption. Finally, spousal acquisitions are provided exemptions to allow each spouse to acquire 320 acres in order to comply with The Saskatchewan Human Rights Code.

E.. Applications for Extension

Financial institutions acquired a total of 13,333 acres through debt resolution during this fiscal year, as compared with 15,115 last fiscal year. A creditor acquiring agricultural land through the realization, quit claim, settlement or other disposition of its security, is permitted to retain that land holding for a period of two years. Where that land is being leased back to the previous owner under the Provincial Leaseback Program, the two year period does not commence until the termination or expiration of the leaseback period. The Board has the authority to extend the two year period allowed creditors.

The general preference of financial institutions is to divest of farm land they have recovered. They have generally been willing to cooperate with the Board in providing leasing arrangements, if necessary, for the farmers who gave up ownership of the land when land cannot be sold. This fiscal year the Farm Credit Corporation chose to depart from that approach believing that leasing the land out to other farmers would improve its prospects for sale.

In the 2001/2002 fiscal year, the Board considered 3 requests for extension received from financial institutions. A total of 37,600 acres were involved. This amount does not necessarily reflect the total of land now held by lenders because such land holdings are being marketed by the lenders throughout the year.

F. Accomplishments

The Board continues with a project to put its files on a computer data base. In this process the Board has developed a listing of land sales data that has proven to be popular with various businesses and individuals. The Board generated $41,600 in revenue from the sale of this data in this fiscal year.

The development of a web site to provide program information is now complete and being widely accessed by the public.

Work also continues on the integration of computerized integration of land transfer data from the reorganized land titles system with the Farm Ownership database. This linkage will create new efficiencies and more reliable and current data to support the Board's activities.

G. Enforcement Summary

One court action with respect to the enforcement of a Board Order to Divest is now successfully concluded.

Two investigations pursuant to section 95 are ongoing (where the Board has reason to believe a person has an illegal land holding). A constitutional challenge under the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms has arisen from one of these actions. Arguments have not yet been heard in the Queen's Bench Court on this matter.

H. Observations

The 2001/2002 fiscal year saw total land transactions increase marginally over the last fiscal year.

The Board again notes the continuing reduction in the number of acres acquired and held by credit institutions.

Two issues had significant affect on the administration of Farm Ownership legislation this fiscal year. The first was the uncertainty over possible legislative change which was being discussed by legislators and organizations with particular interest farm ownership matters. The second was growing controversy in some rural areas over the amount of land being acquired to be idled as wildlife habitat and the impact these set aside lands were having on the rural community.
