Membership Application

Purpose

The Membership Application form is to be used when:

- a prospective member applies to join the association;
- a member approved for one option applies for approval in the other option; or
- a member approved for the feeder option applies for approval to participate in the feeder cow option.

Completion and Approval

- 1) The prospective member completes his/her full legal name, mailing address, land location and rural municipality, phone number, date of birth and primary lending institution(s), signature and date, and submits it to the Association for approval.
- 2) The board of directors reviews the application, verifies the applicant's residency and either approves or rejects the application.
 - The board of directors should use the Board of Directors' Application Review Checklist (CF12) as a guide when reviewing all applications.
 - If the applicant indicates previous or current membership in another association, the board may wish to contact that association as a reference prior to approving the application.
 - When approved, the application must be signed by a board member with signing authority prior to forwarding it to the lender for approval and signature.
- 3) The lender reviews the application, conducts the normal credit checks, and either approves or rejects the application.
 - If approved, the lender signs and dates the application and forwards it to the provincial supervisor for final confirmation and approval.
- 4) The provincial supervisor reviews the application as a final confirmation of member eligibility.
 - If approved, the provincial supervisor signs and dates the application and returns the original to the association with a copy to the lender.
- 5) Upon receipt of the application approved by the provincial supervisor, the lender may advance funds to the association to purchase cattle on behalf of the new member.
