

History

Jin-Me Yoon – Clip 7

I think history informs everything I do. But I wouldn't say that I am like a historian. And I think we can say, "Well how do we tell stories about history? How do we frame what we think is historical?" However, thinking about the past is always a part of my process of making art, because I think the past is here in the present, and always towards an eye to the future. Not necessarily in terms of ideas about progress, but certainly in terms of increasing forms of human agency and...
...new ways of being and knowing.

