	01 to 13		The provincial exhibits should be completed on the basis of current residence of the individual policyholder / group policy certificateholder, irrespective of whether the policy is issued in Canada or out of Canada. Data pertaining to premiums assumed and premiums ceded should be similarly reflected in the appropriate lines. In a similar manner, all benefits paid and incurred should be reported based on Province / Territory of residency. In respect of group contracts directly written and shared, whether pertaining to contracts issued in Canada or on spillover groups in Canada on group contracts issued out of Canada, life insurers should maintain a record of the current address of the group certificateholders. Addresses of the certificateholders forming the group should be obtained at the time of the issue of group contracts. The life insurer should also establish procedures to update any changes in the address of any of its certificateholders forming the group. This requirement applies equally to shared groups as well as spillover groups, irrespective of the number of certificateholders involved in small groups. Back-up records of the addresses of group certificateholders should be available for verification by auditors or regulators. Where such records in respect of In Force groups are not currently available, life insurers are required to obtain such residential address data from the group contractholders and maintain them for future verifications.
