

Michael Semak - Clip 18

New Projects

What am I thinking about these days? I'm in a couple of projects. One project is, I'm embarking on producing a book on wines, but doing it from a workers point of view. Whether the worker is wearing denims, or wearing a suit. I love reading the trailer, the credits, you know in the movie. So you see a number of actors and actresses in that movie, to watch whether on tv or in the cinema, and then I read all these people who are behind it. So that's what I want to do. I want to do a book with all those people that we don't see, but without them that we wouldn't see that movie. So the wine book will take some of my time. And the same publisher wants to publish a book on my work...So these are projects which I'm involved in.

