

The principal concerns in our work

Janet Cardiff – Clip 1

Janet: I think one of the principal concerns underlying our work is the concern with ideas of perception: how do we know the world through our senses? We use audio in a way that simulates a physical reality being around you with not really having it there.