

Complete this schedule to calculate your refundable medical expense supplement if you meet all of the following conditions:

- You were resident in Canada for all of 2000.
- You were age 18 or older at the end of 2000.
- The total of the following two amounts was $2,535 or more:
 - your employment income on lines 101 and 104 of your return (not including amounts from a wage-loss replacement plan) minus the amounts on lines 207, 212, 229, and 231 (if the result is negative, use "0"); and
 - your net self-employment income (not including losses) from lines 135 to 143 of your return.
- Your net family income was less than $27,804. Net family income is the total of your net income (line 236) and your spouse's net income (line 236 of your spouse's return, or the amount it would be if your spouse completed a return).

See line 452 in the guide for more information.

Allowable portion of medical expenses
(from line 332 of your return) x 25% = 1

Enter $507, or the amount from line 1, whichever is less 2

Your net income (from line 236 of your return) 3

Spouse's net income (line 236 of your spouse's return) 467+ 4

Net family income: Add lines 3 and 4 = 5

Minus: $17,664 - 17,664 00 6

Line 5 minus line 6 (if negative, enter "0") = x 5% = 7

Refundable medical expense supplement: Line 2 minus line 7 (if negative, enter "0") 8
Enter this amount on line 452 of your return.
