Assignee

Type of party (individual or corporation):

The final purchaser and user of the fuel is the party eligible to claim the Tax Exempt Fuel User (TEFU) rebate for fuel consumed in off-road locations. For an owner-operator using fuel purchased from a carrier, it may be more practical for the carrier to file a TEFU rebate application on behalf of all its owner-operators than for the owner-operators to file individual TEFU applications.

If a carrier makes a claim for a TEFU rebate that includes fuel purchased and used by owner-operators (Assignee), the carrier must have a signed assignment of the TEFU refund entitlement from each owner-operator (Assignor) who purchased and used the fuel included in the carrier's application. This assignment represents a waiver of the final purchaser's right to apply for a fuel tax rebate on this fuel.

I, the Assignor, who uses fuel while performing activities on behalf of the assignee, hereby waive the right to file a Fuel Tax Rebate Application.
