Terms and Conditions:

Access to the statistical bulletin area of the web site is provided for one year from the date the account is activated. The actual number of issues may vary from that reported above, depending on the timing of the release dates. Documents in the secure area are provided in Adobe Acrobat format (PDF). This format permits you to download and print images of the documents. Licencing terms forbid the resale of these documents.

BC Stats offers web release service at:
<http://bcstats.gov.bc.ca>

BC Stats maintains a web site that includes an overview of British Columbia, a broad range of statistical data, topical reports, methodological papers, and links to other sites. A section of our site contains a number of our priced statistical bulletins. This area may be accessed by any workstation for which an account has been set up with us.

Most clients will get more information than in the past, and at the same time achieve considerable savings, by opting for Internet access. Of the twelve paper-based items currently available by annual subscription, only the Major Projects Inventory continues to be available on paper only.

Besides the savings, web access means around-the-clock and around-the-world availability.
