Platinex Inc. v. Kitchenuhmaykoosib Inninuwug First Nation*, [2006] O.J. No. 3140 (QL), 2006 CanLII 26171, Ontario Superior Court of Justice (G.P. Smith J.), 28 July 2006

The Ontario Superior Court of Justice granted an interim injunction to the Kitchenuhmaykoosib Inninuwug First Nation in northwestern Ontario enjoining the company Platinex Inc. from engaging in any mining exploration activities for five months. The Court also ordered the First Nation to establish a “consultation committee” to negotiate with the exploration company and the provincial government. The Court dismissed the injunction application brought by the exploration company to prevent the Aboriginal community from interfering with its activities.

The case concerned what the Court described as a “clash” between a desire for “the economic development of the rich resources located on a vast tract of pristine land in a remote portion of Northwestern Ontario” and the First Nation’s fight to “safeguard and preserve its traditional land, culture, way of life and core beliefs”.
