FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What's in it?

The 2007 Edition of the Directory of Services Offered to Persons with Disabilities in New Brunswick contains a descriptive list of services and programs offered by community groups and government to the people of the province with disabilities. We do not list private for profit services or products due to quality assurance and potential liability issues.

How do I find what I'm looking for?

All the information is presented alphabetically in each section of the Directory. The first section of the Directory includes information offered by the provincial government, followed by a section with programs offered by the federal government and then a section with programs offered by community groups.

We now have an index by general subject that follows the table of contents. This will enable users to search for a program or service based on a category, rather than by searching for the specific name of a program or a service. For those who already know the name of what they are looking for, the traditional alphabetical index can be found at the back of the Directory.

Is the information up to date?

The information contained in the Directory was gathered over the summer of 2007. Each government department and organization was contacted to verify their listing. If you find errors in any of the listings, or if you are aware of other services that could possibly be included in the Directory, please let us know.

How often is the information updated?

The online version of the Directory is updated as soon as we are made aware of any changes. Print-outs of the updates are also available on a regular basis; please contact the office for these.

Does the Council endorse the services listed in the Directory?

The Council is not responsible for the actual delivery of these services. It is not our goal to imply an evaluation or endorsement of the services listed.

I still can't find what I'm looking for, what should I do?

The friendly staff at the Premier's Council on the Status of Disabled Persons are very knowledgeable and experienced in directing people towards the right program or service. Please call the office if you need additional guidance.

The Council also has a number of other free information resources covering other topics of interest to persons with disabilities. The information in the other directories may be more specific to certain topics. These can be found on the Premier's Council website or can be mailed.

Is the information available in alternate formats?

Yes, please call the Premier's Council to let us know which format you need. We are promoting the use of electronic versions of the Directory to cut down on printing and shipping costs.

Can I photocopy the Directory?

Yes, we would encourage users to photocopy the information in order to share it with as many people as possible.

How much does it cost?

The Directory is currently offered for free. The actual combined cost of printing and mailing a Directory is approximately $14.00. Taking this into account, we hope that users will access the Directory online, which is always the most up-to-date version. PDF versions are available on the Council's website and we can mail a Directory on CD. Hard copy print versions will still be available upon request for those who cannot access the electronic versions.

ADAPT is a program that provides long-term care clients appropriate opportunities to learn skills in centre or community based settings. Through a supported environment, ADAPT focuses on the development and provision of valued training and activities and encourages appropriate behaviour, respect of daily schedules, dress, social habits and all other expectations that are placed on an adult individual.

ADAPT services are designed to meet the participant's needs on a full-time or part-time basis. Although ADAPT services, for the most part, are developmental in nature and designed to meet the needs of the client, as a result of this service, families and guardians of the client receive valuable hours of respite.

Individuals who have been assessed as eligible for long term care services and for whom it has been determined that this type of activity is appropriate can be referred to an ADAPT program. LONG TERM CARE PROGRAM

Long term care services refer to a range of services required by adults and seniors who, because of long term functional limitations, need assistance to function as independently as possible. The objective is to provide appropriate long term care services at the appropriate time and in the appropriate place within the overall continuum of care.

Services range from in-home support services to services in residential settings, including adult residential facilities (special care homes and community residences) and nursing homes.

Home Support Services

Home support services are provided to eligible clients who require personal assistance with care needs or with essential light housekeeping tasks can be maintained at home. The types of services available include personal care, homemaker/housekeeper, meals on wheels, or relief care. Clients who require more services than can be provided in their homes may be eligible for services in a residential facility.

Residential Facilities

Residential Facilities are approved to provide specific levels of care. Generally, nursing homes provide services to clients, mostly seniors, who require a high level of care and professional nursing services on a regular basis; community residences provide residential services to adults who require a high level of care, but do not require professional nursing services on a regular basis; special care homes provide residential services to clients (adults and seniors) who do not require a high level of care and professional nursing care on a regular basis.

Nursing Home Services

Nursing homes, licensed by the Nursing Homes Services Branch of the Department of Family and Community Services, provide long term care for eligible individuals whose care needs are greater than the family and other informal or formal community care resources and residential facilities can provide. The Long Term Care Program is responsible for determining eligibility for nursing home placement.

CHILD WELFARE & YOUTH SERVICES BRANCH

Community-Based Services for Children with Special Needs:

The Community-Based Services for Children with Special Needs Program (CBSCSN) under the Department of Family and Community Services offers services to families who are unable to provide all the care and support required to meet the special developmental needs of their severely disabled child. CBSCSN is a voluntary program, so families must demonstrate that in addition to the other community services they are accessing, their child still has some unmet needs. This program is not insured, so families must be prepared to contribute financially, where possible, to the additional services offered.

To be eligible a child must have a severe disability, which is life-long in nature and affects their daily living. The child must be under 19 years of age, and both they and their family/guardians must be residents of New Brunswick with valid Medicare cards.

Once a child is admitted to the Community-Based Services for Children with Special Needs Program, an individual Service Plan is developed based on the child's strengths, needs, and the services' availability. Depending on the child's special needs, identified in the Service Plan, services or items may be purchased to assist the family in providing the care and support the child requires. Some of these services or items covered are respite care, parent aides, medical and rehabilitation transportation, recreational opportunities and home support services.

Children whose families do not have private health insurance may be eligible for a health card that covers items such as prescription drugs, dental care, optical care, medical and rehabilitation equipment.

When families are no longer able to meet the care and supervision needs of their child, they may consider a temporary placement with the Department in a foster home or a group home situation.

For more information contact the regional offices of the Department of Family and Community Services.

EARLY CHILDHOOD AND SCHOOL-BASED SERVICES BRANCH:

Early Childhood Initiatives

The overarching goal of Early Childhood Initiatives (ECI) is to improve the developmental outcomes for children who are at risk of delay in school readiness, where school readiness means bringing children to the door of kindergarten ready to achieve their potential. To achieve this goal, ECI provides a menu of health and social services designed to enhance factors and conditions known to foster healthy growth and the development of children who are “at risk”. These include the promotion of healthy pregnancy, family self-sufficiency, quality parenting, enhanced healthy family functioning and access to learning and childcare services for priority children and families. The target group for ECI services is preschool children and their families who are at risk for developmental delays due to physical disabilities, neglect, abuse, poor birth outcomes or environmental disadvantages. Children who meet the eligibility criteria are referred to ECI services by Public Health Nurses.

Early Intervention Services

Regular home-visits by Early Intervention staff for parents of pre-school children (primarily from birth to 4 years). These services assist parents in meeting the special needs of their child through providing information, support and linking families with both formal and informal supports that exists in their community and or family.

Integrated Day Care

This service is intended to allow children in special circumstances to participate in activities appropriate for their age and level of development in licensed day care centres. Funding is provided on a per space basis and is designed to help with such costs as tuition, transportation and additional staff to support the child in this setting.

Early Childhood Social Worker Services

The social worker prevention services involve public education on positive parenting practices, voluntary participation of parents in parent education support and prevention.

Home Economics Services

Assist families in improving resource management in the areas of home management and money management and link families with other community-based resources.

SERVICES FOR PRESCHOOL CHILDREN WITH AUTISM:

Families with preschool age children diagnosed with autism spectrum disorder can access early intensive intervention services (up to 20 hours per week) through one of the seven approved agencies across the province. The agencies are responsible for the management and coordination of all components of intervention services which includes a developmental assessment completed by a multidisciplinary team of skilled professionals; an individual program plan based on the child's identified developmental goals, strengths and needs; ongoing review and monitoring of the child's program plan; and a school transition plan to assist in the child's transition to school.

These services will be in addition, if the family is eligible, to those services that the child and family may be already receiving through such programs as:

- Integrated Daycare and Early Intervention Services through Early Childhood Initiative;
- Rehabilitative Services through the Hospitals and Extra-Mural Programs; and
- Family support services through Community Based Services for Children with Special Needs.

Eligibility

- Child must be five years of age or under as of December 31st in the year of application;
- Child must be registered under the Early Childhood Initiatives (ECI) and/or the Community-Based Services for Children with Special Needs (CBSCSN) Program;

INTERPRETER SERVICES FOR THE DEAF:

NEW BRUNSWICK EXTRA-MURAL PROGRAM

Website: www.gnb.ca/0384/en/index.htm

The mission of the EMP is:

“to provide a comprehensive range of coordinated healthcare services for individuals of all ages for the purpose of promoting, maintaining and/or restoring health within the context of their daily lives and to provide palliative services to support quality end of life care for individuals with progressive life threatening illnesses”.

This mission is accomplished through the provision of a basket of services, including acute care, palliative care, long term care, rehabilitation and home oxygen therapy. Professional services include physicians, nursing, occupational therapy, physiotherapy, speech language pathology, respiratory therapy, social work and clinical dietetics.

Thirty service delivery sites in New Brunswick provide EMP services on a 24/7, 365 days basis through actual nursing shifts or, at a minimum, the on-call services of a nurse. EMP provides short term personal support services on a purchased service basis when required. This funding is used primarily with palliative care patients to enhance and support the informal support network in the last weeks of the patient's life and with short term acute care patients.

Home support services required on a long term basis are accessed through the single entry point assessment program and are funded through the Department of Family and Community Services.

All residents of New Brunswick are eligible for home healthcare services. A physician referral is required for services with the physician acting as attending physician with the exception of rehabilitation services in which direct referrals from self/family/others are accepted. Physician involvement has been a critical factor in the overall success of the Program.

EMP services are delivered according to provincial clinical policy and procedures to ensure the provision of consistent quality home health care services throughout the province. All professions have established preferred practices.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES

Website: www.gnb.ca/0053

Childhood Immunization Program (Children 1-16 years of age) - This program provides protection against many childhood, vaccine-preventable diseases. Routine immunizations are offered to children by Public Health Nurses in Pediatric Immunization Clinics and to 16 year olds at school, and via physicians through their office. The Victorian Order of Nurses provides hepatitis B immunization to all Grade four students in the school setting.

Dental Health Activities - These activities focus primarily on reducing the incidence of dental disease and improving the level of oral hygiene among elementary school children. A principal component is a weekly fluoride mouth rinse program for all children in grades 1-6.

Early Childhood Initiatives - This program is designed to help parents give their children the best start in life, to grow strong and healthy in a healthy family. The Public Health components of the program include:

Prenatal - Services include prenatal screening to identify those pregnant women most in need, education and counselling to address specific needs, and nutrition supplementation, as necessary.

Postnatal - Services to children 0 to 5 years of age include screening of all newborns and their families to identify those infants who are most at-risk of developmental delay, education and counselling to address specific needs and nutrition supplementation.

3.5 Year Old Health Clinic - All 3.5 year old children and their families are invited to attend a 3.5 Year Old Health Clinic. Services include a comprehensive health assessment of a child's vision, hearing, speech/language, general physical growth and development, safety, nutrition, immunization status, and behaviour. In collaboration with the family, referrals to various health providers are made based on the results of these assessments.

International Travellers' Clinics - Education, counselling and immunizations are provided to international travellers by nurses of the VON. There is a fee for the immunizations provided at these clinics. Please call for an appointment well in advance of your planned departure date.

Nutrition Services - Nutrition information is available through the public health office.

School Health - Limited health consultation referrals and counselling are offered by public health nurses who visit schools on a periodic basis.

Sexual Health Centres - The Sexual Health Program was established to help prevent unplanned pregnancies among adolescents and young, single adults. Under the program, the Public Health offers education, counselling and clinical services in birth control, sexually transmitted diseases and human sexuality.

TESS - TRAINING AND EMPLOYMENT SUPPORT SERVICES FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

The Training and Employment Support Services (TESS) for Persons with Disabilities program offers training and employment services that enable persons with disabilities to achieve their occupational goal or obtain employment.

The purpose of TESS is to decrease the barriers faced by persons with disabilities so that they may be as competitive as the non-disabled population in their search for employment.

Although everybody's needs are different, some of the services a TESS client may be eligible for include counselling to help decide on a career plan, adaptive equipment required to pursue a career goal, and assistance with special educational or training costs.

For more information, contact a TESS coordinator at one of the following locations:

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

CANADA PENSION PLAN - DISABILITY BENEFITS

The Canada Pension Plan (CPP) disability benefit is a monthly payment. It is available to people who contributed recently to the Canada Pension Plan while they worked, and then became unable to work at any job on a regular basis because of a disability. The primary purpose is to replace a portion of employment earnings for people who recently paid into the CPP. There are also benefits for children if at least one parent qualifies for the CPP disability benefit.

A CPP disability benefit is not approved on the basis of which disability or disease you have, but on how the medical condition and its treatment affect your ability to work at any job on a regular basis.

Applicants who have a terminal illness will have their disability applications decided on within 48 hours upon receipt of their application. Social Development Canada (SDC) staff give these applications priority to determine eligibility quickly so that benefit payments can start as soon as possible.

Can I work while receiving benefits? Yes, you can earn up to $4,200 (before taxes) in 2006 without informing SDC staff and without losing your benefit. This amount may increase in future years.

Once you earn $4,200 from work, you should contact SDC staff about your current work situation and your future work goals. If you can only work once in a while, you may be able to earn more than $4,200 while still receiving your CPP disability benefit payment. It is important to contact us so we can look at your individual situation.

If you believe you are able to work on a regular basis, SDC staff may be able to help you achieve your goals through the CPP vocational rehabilitation program. As new technology, medical treatments and skills training are making it possible for some people with disabilities to re-enter the work force, this program is designed to help you return to work.

At this time you can't access or fill out a CPP disability application kit online. Please contact us at the number below and we will send you the kit to fill out. You must apply for a disability benefit in writing. If you prefer, someone else (a family member or friend) can complete the kit for you (but please make sure that you sign the application form for your benefit).

CNIB is a nationwide, community-based, registered charity committed to research, public education and vision health for all Canadians. CNIB provides the services and support necessary for people to enjoy a good quality of life while living with vision loss.

CNIB is active in every region of the country, with staff and volunteers working in offices and often travelling to provide support to people in their homes and in rural communities. Through CNIB, Canadians have access to rehabilitation counselling and training, innovative consumer products, peer support and one of the world's largest libraries for people with print disabilities.

CNIB has been making a profound difference in the lives of Canadians with vision loss since 1918. Thanks to the generous support of individuals, corporations, government and other funders, we are able to continue our important work in the areas of rehabilitation services, research, blindness prevention and public education. At CNIB it is well understood that there are ways to enjoy a good quality of life for any of us experiencing vision loss, and important preventive steps we can all take to maintain vision health.

Easter Seals New Brunswick is committed to assisting children and adults with disabilities to achieve maximum rehabilitation. This is achieved by offering direction to existing services or by using their own resources to provide help that is otherwise unavailable. Clients can access rehabilitation equipment loans for long-term use. Assistance is available for special shoes and travel as well as other types of supports. A means test and application are required.

They also have a Loan Bank of Assessment Equipment from which equipment is loaned out for a 3-week period for assessment purposes only, upon referral of a health professional. Once the assessment is complete, arrangements can be made for either a long-term loan through one of their other programs or for the purchase of the equipment through an appropriate seller.

They have an extensive library of information on various disabilities, rehabilitation equipment, services, etc., which is open to the public from 8:00 am - 5:00 pm, Monday - Friday. Speakers and films are also available on request.

The Polio Survivor's Program offers current information concerning the late effects of polio and maintains a registry of polio survivors.

The repair service conducts various types of equipment repair at their office or by accessing specialists in the field.

Their Rehabilitation Technology Program offers information and consultation about rehabilitation technology to health professionals and persons with disabilities. The program loans specialized electronic aids for assessment or for long-term use. SlideTalk, a computer software program, was developed by this agency to enable children with severe disabilities to communicate. Also, a French and English Disability Awareness Training CD-ROM was designed to increase awareness of needs of persons with disabilities.

The Toy Library provides short-term loans of adapted toys for children with disabilities.

They are an affiliate partner of the Canadian Health Network (CHN), a national Internet-based resource that provides easy access to up-to-date, trustworthy health information. It assists with the collection of web resources specifically for people with disabilities and with the development and support of a network of organizations who work in that field.

Staff are available for presentations and exposés.

Camp Rotary runs continuous integrated sessions from mid-June until the end of August. Seventy-six campers can be accommodated per session. The camp property includes a beach area on Grand Lake, a nature trail, a paved recreation area and a heated swimming pool. The camp's therapeutic recreation program offers a wide variety of activities and the camp's aim is to "focus on ability".

Independence Plus Incorporated is a non-profit, incorporated company providing residential services under contract with Family and Community Social Services to physically and/or mentally disabled individuals. The service presently operates three group home settings plus several individual apartments and life share settings to individuals needing less support. The group home settings provide developmental care, not custodial, on a 24-hour basis. Developmental care supports each person in all areas of their lives through life skills teaching and community inclusion.

The majority of residents are referred from Family and Community Social Services with referrals taken from the community, and all persons follow the Case Management concept whereby individual plans are formulated to work toward goals of less dependent living and integration.

INJURED WORKERS' ASSOCIATIONS

This association is composed of injured workers, their spouses and interested others. The group meets several times during the year to share with others who have had similar experiences. They try to find solutions to difficulties encountered in dealing with the Workplace Health, Safety and Compensation Commission of New Brunswick, doctors, employers, family members, etc. They guide each other and, when necessary, seek the assistance of professionals. One of their goals is to inform other workers of their rights when an injury occurs at work.

The Association has several programs that have and will make a difference to all New Brunswickers and hopefully all Canadians. Our asthma camp for Anglophone and Francophone children, ages 7-11, has provided valuable data and information which has made a noticeable positive impact on the participating children and families.

Children who attend the camps are taught skills that will assist them to better manage and control their asthma. Most importantly, it allows the children an opportunity to have fun, and establish healthy relationships with their peers and health professionals.

The Association offers public education on an ongoing basis. The public is encouraged to call the Association and receive on-line education and free resource tools as a means to increase their understanding and knowledge about proper care and management of their or their child's asthma. The Association delivers asthma education to schools for both administration and students, seminars on respiratory diseases, and conferences for health professionals. Respiratory equipment for patients is available on a loan basis.

VoicePrint is a non-profit, volunteer-driven reading service for the members of our community who cannot access printed material due to, for example, blindness, vision restriction, physical or learning disability, low literacy skills or just getting older. We are the Atlantic regional office of VoicePrint Canada and the primary service of the National Broadcast Reading Service. We are also Canada's only broadcast reading service. Our mandate is to break the barriers to accessing printed information. We can be found on:

Cable - the secondary audio program (S.A.P) of CBC Newsworld, Satellite - Star Choice – ch. 825, Express Vu – ch. 49 and 967, Look TV ch. 400, Rogers Digital Ch. 190, EastLink Digital ch. 294 and online - www.voiceprintcanada.com.

The Atlantic office produces the Headline and National News, the Atlantic Regional Report, Atlantic Afternoon and Atlantic Life. The service is based on material clipped from the daily newspapers and read by our volunteers

We are also operating what is called a “Local Broadcast Centre”, LBC. It’s a web-based service at www.voiceprintcanada.com. Services available in English.
