This important new conference is organised by Metropolis International, Monash University, Australian Multicultural Foundation and the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences and is hosted by the Monash University Sunway campus in Kuala Lumpur.

The two day intense conference will examine issues concerning migration flows, management and governance, urbanisation and its influence on social and economic integration, and diasporas and transnationalism.

One of the purposes of this conference is to enhance research co-operation amongst Asia-based scholars and between Asian and non-Asian researchers. Consolidating the Metropolis network in Asia will promote co-operation amongst researchers in the fields of immigration and ethnic relations.
