Information About Child Care Expenses

The information on this sheet will help you to complete Form T778, Child Care Expenses Deduction for 2009.

Who can claim child care expenses?

If you are the only person supporting the child, you can claim child care expenses (as defined on the next page) you incurred while the eligible child (as defined on the next page) was living with you.

However, there may have been another person who lived with you at any time in 2009 and at any time during the first 60 days of 2010 who was:

- · the eligible child's parent;
- your spouse or common-law partner, if you are the father or the mother of the child; or
- an individual claiming an amount for the eligible child on line 305, 306, 315, or 367 of their Schedule 1.

If there is another person, the person with the lower net income (including zero income) must claim the child care expenses unless one of the situations in Part C or in Part D applies.

If there is another person, and one of the situations in Part C or in Part D applies, the child care expenses can be claimed by the person with the higher net income, or in part by both the person with the higher net income and the person with the lower net income. In any such situation, the person with the higher net income must calculate the claim first.

If there is another person and you have equal net incomes, you have to agree on which one of you will claim the expenses.

If you got married or began living common-law in 2009, you and your spouse or common-law partner have to consider your net incomes for the whole year. Include child care expenses you both paid for the whole year.

What payments can you claim?

You can claim payments for child care expenses made to:

- · caregivers providing child care services;
- · day nursery schools and daycare centres;
- educational institutions, for the part of the fees that relate to child care services;
- day camps and day sports schools where the primary goal of the camp is to care for children (an institution offering a sports study program is not a sports school); or
- boarding schools, overnight sports schools, or camps where lodging is involved (see the note in Part A of Form T778).

Advertising expenses and placement agency fees paid to locate a child care provider may also qualify as child care expenses. For more details, see Interpretation Bulletin IT-495, Child Care Expenses.

When the child care services are provided by an individual, the individual cannot be:

- · the child's father or mother;
- another person (as described under "Who can claim child care expenses?");
- a person for whom you or another person claimed an amount on line 305, 306, 315, or 367 of Schedule 1; or
- a person under 18 who is related to you.

A related person is someone connected by a blood relationship, marriage or common-law partnership, or adoption, such as your or your spouse's or common-law partner's child, brother, sister, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law. However, nieces, nephews, aunts, and uncles are not considered related persons.

Receipts – The individual or organization who received the payments must give you a receipt showing information about the services provided. When the child care services are provided by an individual, you will need the social insurance number of the individual. Do not send receipts with your return, but keep them in case we ask to see them. If you file your return electronically using EFILE, show your receipts to your EFILE service provider.

Notes

You may have paid an amount that would qualify to be claimed as child care expenses and the children's fitness amount (line 365). If this is the case, you must first claim this amount as child care expenses. Any unused part can be claimed for the children's fitness amount as long as the requirements are met.

If you paid an individual to provide child care in your home, you may have some responsibilities as an employer. If you are not sure of your situation, contact us.

What payments can't you claim?

You cannot claim payments for medical or hospital care, clothing, or transportation costs.

For payments made to an educational institution, you cannot claim the part of the fees that relate to education costs, such as tuition fees of a regular program or a sports study program. Also, you cannot claim fees paid for leisure or recreational activities, such as tennis lessons or the annual registration fees paid for Scouts.

Note

Although some expenses may not be eligible to deduct as child care expenses, they may qualify for the children's fitness amount as long as the requirements are met to claim an amount at line 365.

You cannot claim expenses for which you or another person (as described under "Who can claim child care expenses?") received, or is entitled to receive, a reimbursement of the child care expenses or any other form of assistance not included in income. If your employer paid the child care expenses on your behalf, you can claim the part of the expenses included in your income for the year.

Other situations

When completing the return of a person who died in 2009, claim eligible child care expenses that were paid while that person was living with the child as if he or she was the only person supporting the child. However, if there was another person (as described under "Who can claim child care expenses?"), that person is also considered the only person supporting the eligible child and can claim eligible child care expenses paid while living with the child, as long as the expenses were not claimed on the return of another person.

If you lived outside Canada for part or all of 2009, and we consider you to be a factual or deemed resident of Canada, you can claim child care expenses that you paid to a non-resident person for services provided outside Canada. We explain these terms under "Which tax package should you use?" on page 7 of the General Income Tax and Benefit Guide. For information on other circumstances in which you can claim child care expenses paid for services provided outside Canada (e.g., commuters to the United States), please contact us.

If you immigrated to or emigrated from Canada in 2009, you can claim child care expenses for the period you were in Canada, as long as you otherwise qualify.

Definitions

The terms child care expenses, eligible child, net income, earned income, and educational program, used on Form T778, Child Care Expenses Deduction for 2009, are defined here.

Child care expenses

Child care expenses are amounts you or another person (as described under "Who can claim child care expenses?") paid to have someone look after an eligible child so that you or the other person could:

- · earn income from employment;
- · carry on a business either alone or as an active partner;
- attend school under the conditions identified under "Educational program" on this page; or
- carry on research or similar work, for which you or the other person received a grant.

The child must have lived with you or the other person when the expense was incurred for the expense to qualify. Usually, you can only deduct payments for services provided in Canada by a Canadian resident. See "Other situations" on the previous page for exceptions.

Eligible child

Child care expenses can only be claimed for an eligible child. An eligible child is:

- your or your spouse or common-law partner's child; or
- a child who was dependent on you or your spouse or common-law partner, and whose net income in 2009 was $10,320 or less.

The child must have been under 16 years of age at some time in the year. However, the age limit does not apply if the child was dependent on you or your spouse or common-law partner and was mentally or physically infirm.

Net income

Your net income, and that of the other person, is used to determine which person can claim child care expenses. This is the amount from line 236 of your returns. However, do not include amounts for child care expenses (line 214) and social benefits repayment (line 235).

Earned income

Your earned income for line 6 in Part B is the total of:

- employment income (including tips and gratuities, and the non-taxable part of an allowance received as an emergency volunteer);
- net self-employment income, either alone or as an active partner (excluding losses);
- the taxable portion of scholarships, bursaries, fellowships and similar awards, and net research grants;
- any earnings supplement received under a project sponsored by the Government of Canada to encourage employment or sponsored under Part II of the Employment Insurance Act or any similar program;
- disability benefits received from the Canada Pension Plan or the Quebec Pension Plan;
- apprenticeship incentive grants received under the Apprenticeship Incentive Grant program administered by Human Resources and Skills Development Canada; and
- apprenticeship completion grants received under the Apprenticeship Incentive Grant program administered by Human Resources and Skills Development Canada.

Educational program

An educational program has to be offered by a secondary school, college, university, or other designated educational institution. This includes any institution certified by the Minister of Human Resources and Skills Development for courses that develop or improve occupational skills. An eligible program has to last at least 3 consecutive weeks. A full-time educational program requires students to spend at least 10 hours a week on courses or work in the program. A part-time educational program requires students to spend at least 12 hours in a calendar month on courses in the program.
