Adjusted cumulative loss amount reported after 1984 and before the current year

You have to make an adjustment if the trust claimed net capital losses of other years in a taxation year after 1984 and before 1992 if, in the same taxation year, the trust reported a pre-1985 reserve. You have to reduce the net capital losses of other years claimed in a year by the taxable portion of the pre-1985 reserve reported in the year. The following chart will help you calculate this adjustment for line 21. If you have never made this calculation, you have to make it in the current year for all the years from 1985 to 1991.

If you complete Schedule 3, you also have to complete and submit Schedule 4, Cumulative Net Investment Loss. You will need the amount you calculated on line 34 on Schedule 3 when you complete Schedule 5, Spousal or Common-Law Partner Trust's Capital Gains Deduction in Year of Beneficiary's Death, and Schedule 9, Income Allocations and Designations to Beneficiaries. This is the amount of the trust's taxable capital gain that qualifies for a capital gains deduction for a spousal or common-law partner trust (line 1 of Schedule 5) or an individual beneficiary (line 930 of Schedule 9).
