I am in full support of the building of this repository. Canada has a careful and scientific approach to nuclear energy and storage. I urge the decision-makers to consider the fears of the nay-sayers and to address their fears through a careful and personal, small group face to face information campaign. Not everyone is afraid of the industry. At a time when carbon emissions are beyond control, nuclear is the only energy source that buys us time to find successful ways to sequester carbon .

Kind regards
Jean Courtney
