

Attention: All staff concerned with or responsible for Infection Control

Dr. Dick Zoutman & Mr. Jim Gauthier invite you to participate in Queen's University's

Queen's UNIVERSITY

Online

(web- and teleconference-based)

Basic Infection Prevention & Control Course

April 10th to December 4th, 2007
(summer break June 27th to September 3rd)

- A 90-hour certificate course
- Limit of 50 registrants
- Fee: $1500 CDN (does not include cost of resource manual)
- Curriculum is endorsed by the Community and Hospital Infection Control Association-Canada (CHICA-Canada)

Who should take this course?

Infection control practitioners in all health care settings including communicable disease staff working in health units

For information or to register, please contact the Office of Continuing Professional Development,
Queen's University, by phone at 613-533-6000, ext.
77621, or by e-mail at cynthia.mangan@queensu.ca.

Details and online registration at <http://meds.queensu.ca/ce/ic/>
Please review the technical requirements listed there before registering.

Course coordinators

Dick Zoutman, MD, FRCPC

Professor, Departments of Pathology &
Molecular Medicine, Community Health &
Epidemiology, Medicine and Microbiology
& Immunology, Queen's University

Jim Gauthier, MLT, CIC

Infection Control Practitioner,
Providence Continuing Care Centre,
St. Mary's of the Lake Hospital, Kingston,
Ontario